NANKING IS RECOGNIZED

CHINA GOVERNMENT ACCEPTED BY U. S.; MINISTERS REMAIN

Treaty Negotiation Accepted As Final Recognition

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Official recognition of the Nationalist regime in Nanking as the De Jure government of China has been extended by the United States, the United Press was informed by state department officials.

There will be no formal announcement of this important action.

De Jure—or complete—recognition of the Nationalists was the outcome of several months' study of the problem created on July 25 when John Van A. MacMurray, the American minister in China, signed a tariff treaty with T. V. Soong, Nationalist finance minister. At that time, Secretary of State Kellogg said, negotiation of the treaty constituted "at least" de facto recognition of Nanking, but the consensus of opinion of American authorities was that the United States had not thereby approved the new regime as the de jure government of China.

For this reason, the state department, as exclusively reported by the United Press late in July, prepared to take formal action looking toward de jure recognition. An official announcement to this effect, attended by the United States government and the Chinese minister here and between the Nationalist government and MacMurray in Peking, was to have been made late this summer.

Since then, however, the legal advisers of the state department have decided that negotiation of the tariff treaty in itself amounted to de jure recognition and that no action was necessary.

This opinion was recently accepted by President Coolidge, and Nanking was so notified.

Under the new arrangement MacMurray will continue as American minister in Peking, while Dr. Alfredissimo Ke Sze will remain as Chinese minister here.

REPORT 150 DIE IN HANKOW FIRE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—Fire in the native city at Hankow took the lives of 150 persons and destroyed 2,300 buildings yesterday. Ten thousand persons are homeless. The fire started in a tea shop and spread rapidly. The Shanghai Red Cross is sending a relief force to the city.

DAUGHTER OF CLIFF DURANT DIVORCED

RENO, Nev., Sept. 27.—Margaret Durant, daughter of W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, was granted a divorce here yesterday from Robert W. Durant, Washington, D. C., banker, on grounds of cruelty.

TREATY FAVORED

BUDAPEST, Sept. 27.—As a result of conferences between a Yugoslav delegation and representatives of the Hungarian government, it is likely that the trade treaty between the two countries will be ratified immediately. Heretofore the Yugoslav objections to certain tariff facilities have prevented ratification. The treaty embodies important reciprocal trade concessions.

FACES CHARGE

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Marjorie Nye, 29, mother of two, was at liberty today under $500 bond on a charge of manslaughter filed in connection with the fatal shooting of Arthur Ginkrick, 35, in her home. Mrs. Nye said she shot Ginkrick while resisting a renewal of attentions she had halted after three years.

BARN DESTROYED

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—Fire of officials today investigated the cause of a blaze which destroyed a large barn in the state hospital grounds shortly after midnight Wednesday. The fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, used damage estimated at $14,000.

PHYSICIAN SPREADS CANCER ALARM AT MEET

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Many thousands of persons die annually from cancer and the disease is increasing at an alarming rate despite present methods of treatment. Dr. Frederick Dugdale of Boston told physicians, surgeons and research workers here today at the seventeenth annual convention of the American Association for Medical-Physical Research.

"Millions in the United States are in early or potential cancerous stages," Dr. Dugdale said, "and fully 5,000,000 others have the disease, sufficiently advanced to be detected easily."

Deaths from cancer in 1927 were estimated at from 100,000 to 500,000, the doctor said, and a large percentage of deaths attributed to other causes were in reality from unrecognized cancer.

"But cancer is curable and preventable according to the findings of Dr. William F. Koch, physiologist and bio-chemist of Detroit," the Boston physician said. "Dr. Koch has conducted an extensive research in the course of which he has discovered cancer to be a constitutional blood disease. Encouraging results have been obtained through the use of a synthetic antitoxin."

From careful investigation of cases under his observation, Dr. Dugdale said he had determined which, if acted upon by potential victims of the disease, would save thousands of lives. Such symptoms, he said, include sinking sensations, sudden temporary loss of vision, blinding flashes of light, sick headaches, various forms of rheumatism and stomach ulcers.

REPUBLICANS PLAN STATE-WIDE RALLY TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Davis Will Speak; Factional Breach To Be Remedied

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 27.—Arrangements were being completed today by Republican campaign headquarters for the state-wide rally and "campaign opener" to be held here Friday afternoon. The rally will launch the intensive campaign in Ohio in behalf of both the national and state tickets.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will deliver the principal address at the rally. Other speakers will include Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Myers Y. Cooper, nominee for governor, and Senator Simeon D. Fess. All the candidates for state offices will be presented to the rally gathering but are not scheduled to speak.

Special trains have been scheduled from some of the larger cities, and motor caravans are slated to bring the party workers and lieutenants from other sections of the state.

Efforts will be made, in connection with the rally, to complete the healing of the factional breach in the party resulting from the bitter primary fight. Campaign leaders are optimistic that this is already virtually accomplished, pointing out that Congressman James T. Begg, who was defeated by Cooper for the governorship nomination is going "on the stump" in Ohio for both the national and state tickets.

Begg, who has been attached to the national Republican speakers' bureau, has been assigned to make twelve speeches in Ohio during the last two weeks of the campaign.

MANY INJURED IN FIGHTING DURING MELBOURNE STRIKE

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 27.—Many persons were injured today in fights between striking stevedores and volunteer workers who have taken their jobs.

Officers of the German steamer, Manau, defended the vessel with revolvers and clubs to prevent strikers from boarding it.

Several volunteer workers were thrown into the water and wool awaiting shipment was dumped in after them.

Police were outnumbered by the strikers and were powerless to stop them.

Mrs. Smith Enjoys Being With Candidate On Tour

ABOARD GOVERNOR SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Alfred E. Smith thinks political campaigning is "fine and dandy" and intends to accompany her husband on all of his tours.

She said in her first newspaper interview on the trip, however, that she does not intend to make any speeches.

"When are you going to make your debut as a public speaker?" she was asked.

"Never," she replied.

She was reminded that her daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, who was near as she talked to

"I like everything," she answered.

"Does the handshaking bother you?" someone asked.

"Not a bit; I never get tired."

"What experience so far on the trip has given you the greatest thrill?"

"Meeting all these people," she said. "I think that is the most pleasing experience. Everyone I have met has been so wonderful."

Mrs. Smith was asked what part of the campaign women she had met were most interested in.

Before she could answer, her daughter, who follows her father's political career closely, replied:

"All the women we talked to were furious about the propaganda to the effect that the women are not for father. Every place we visited, at all the receptions and at the luncheons women said they could not understand that rumor."

DISMISS CHARGES OF SUNDAY MOVIES

MARTINS FERRY, O., Sept. 27.—Immediate renewal of the attempt to operate Sunday movies is expected here today as a result of action of the Belmont County grand jury in dismissing thirty-nine charges filed under Ohio statutes last summer when Sunday movies were opened.

Theater owners today were circulating petitions asking a referendum on the Sunday movie ordinance enacted recently by council. Granting of the referendum would prevent the ordinance from becoming effective until after 1929 election, so it is likely the shows will be in operation Sunday.

CHIEF OF SPEAKING BUREAU SAYS SHE'S WORKING FOR PARTY

Returns To Capital With Authority To Continue Talks

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, was on her way back to Washington today with full authority from the Republican campaign speakers' bureau here to continue her campaign for Herbert Hoover in any way that she pleases.

Although she denied she came here because of the furor in both parties over her attacks upon Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate, Mrs. Willebrandt appeared unexpectedly in Chicago yesterday after spending the morning dodging reporters finally consented to be interviewed.

She said that Governor Smith, instead of herself, had injected both the religious and prohibition issues into the presidential campaign.

Asked "have you been making your addresses as a free lance or under the auspices of the speakers' bureau and do you intend to continue making speeches throughout the campaign?" Mrs. Willebrandt turned to Congressman Walter H. Newton, head of the speakers' bureau, and said:

"I think that I'll let Mr. Newton answer that for me."

"Mrs. Willebrandt certainly has been speaking under the auspices of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee," Newton said. "She has engagements in several states already, including Kentucky and Tennessee during the month of October and if her official duties will permit, she will make more speeches."

Mrs. Willebrandt left for Washington immediately after the interview.

NOTES REJECT AGREEMENT ON LIMITATION

United States Not Accepting Plan As Basis.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The American reply to the Franco-British naval accord has arrived at the American embassy.

It is being translated and probably will be handed to French officials at the Quai d'Orsay tomorrow morning.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Two notes, in which the United States government is said to have rejected unqualifiedly the secret Anglo-French agreement as a basis for renewed naval arms limitation discussions, were sent to the American embassies in London and Paris yesterday.

Although not identical, the notes are understood to parallel each other in all essential respects. They go into considerable detail on this government's stand on naval disarmament as regards cruisers and submarines.

The United States' proposal of a flat 400,000-ton limitation for all classes of cruisers, made at the 1927 Geneva conference, opposed by Great Britain, was reiterated as being a basis for further limitation discussions, it was learned from an authoritative quarter.

PRIMARY BALLOTS GIVEN TO JURY PROBING VOTE FRAUDS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Board of elections officials today were preparing to turn the ballots cast in the August 14 primary over to the special grand jury investigating vote frauds.

Two truck loads of the ballots were to be delivered to Attorney General Edward C. Turner, conducting the probe, as the jury convened for the fourth day of the special session.

This action follows a bitter fight led by Attorney Samuel Doerflinger, former county prosecutor, to have the ballots burned. Ohio statutes provide that the ballots be burned thirty days after an election.

The board of elections yesterday refused to give up the ballots after Common Pleas Judge Fred H. Wolf denied a writ of mandamus ordering the board to burn them.

They based their refusal on an appeal filed by Doerflinger.

Decision to release the ballots to the grand jury came when Turner threatened contempt of court action against the board members if the ballots were not turned over to him.

Will Close Western Trip Friday In Milwaukee

ABOARD GOVERNOR SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Governor Alfred E. Smith entered the north central west today to make a bid for the twenty-five electoral votes of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Democratic candidate announced he would speak in Minneapolis on inland waterways and the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project, a vital issue in the whole central west.

Tonight Smith will make a speech in St. Paul.

Soon after his arrival, Smith will go into conference with state Democratic leaders to canvass the situation. He has received reports that unusual sentiment for him has manifested itself in Minnesota.

The state never has gone Democratic in a presidential election. Roosevelt carried it in the 1912 split, and Wilson lost it by a very slight margin in 1916. The state has twelve electoral votes.

The New York governor came out of the northwest today with assurances from state leaders, that the state he rode through all day yesterday, North Dakota, will give him its five electoral votes.

Additional encouragement came in the expressions of favor toward the Democratic presidential candidate by Governor Walter Maddock, who was regarded as giving Smith a tacit endorsement. Maddock welcomed the governor at his state capitol office in Bismarck and joined the campaign train for the trip to Jamestown, along with the entire executive committee of the state committee.

Governor Smith will go to Milwaukee Friday and speak there Saturday night, closing this first campaign trip. He will go direct to Rochester for the state Democratic convention, beginning Monday, returning to Albany Tuesday night to rest there for the remainder of the week. He will begin his second campaign tour Monday, October 8.

THREE TRAINMEN INJURED IN CRASH

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Three railroad men were in a hospital today with injuries received Wednesday night when a New York Central passenger train locomotive crashed into a switch engine at the foot of E 32nd St.

The injured are Claude Giddings, 44, of Willoughby, engineer, Cleveland; John Johnston, 35, fireman of the switch engine and Charles Osgood, 41, East Cleveland, fireman on the passenger train engine.

Theodore Duross, Lakewood, engineer of the passenger engine escaped injury.

FATHER REFUSES TO HALT WHEN ORDERED BY HIGHWAY SQUAD

Robbery Is Feared; Mayor's Squad Is Under Arrest.

LORAIN, O., Sept. 27.—Twenty-two year old Betty Haywood lay in a hospital today with a bullet wound in her head, and three members of Mayor J. C. Standen's liquor squad were held in jail, as a result of a fusillade of shots fired into a private automobile here last night.

Richard Haywood, father of the girl, said his daughter was hit by one of several bullets fired at his automobile when he failed to stop at the command of three men. The Haywoods live in Elyria.

The three members of the dry squad held pending a report of the girl's condition are Frank Klady, chief of the squad; Louis Cicco and Walter Knitter, according to Lieut. George Carson, of Lorain police.

Haywood said the agents stepped in front of his automobile and yelled "halt."

"I started to comply," he said, "when my wife yelled 'they're holding me!'"

"My wife, my daughter, and another man and his wife and baby were in the car."

"Naturally, I stepped on it. Then I heard a patter against the rear of the car. I thought stones were being thrown at us."

"Suddenly, my daughter slumped down in the seat. I stopped the car and jumped out, yelling 'you've shot my daughter!'"

The agents ordered the girl taken to a hospital, but made no attempt to direct him there, although he did not know its location, Haywood said.

Lieut. Carson said he received the first report of the shooting from the hospital and went at once to investigate.

It was then that Carson began a roundup of the liquor squad, he said.

Haywood said that Cicco was the "only one of the agents who came up to investigate after the shooting." Klady and Knitter remained a considerable distance away.

Klady told police today that Cicco reported to him and Knitter that the girl's head "was just grazed by a bullet." Knitter said he advised reporting the incident but the others "preferred to wait until morning."

Lieut. Carson said Klady told him that Cicco had fired the shots against his orders. Carson said he took from Cicco a revolver fully loaded with six steel bullets "like the ones" doctors removed from Miss Haywood's head.

Chief of Police Theodore Walker said the liquor squad was not under his control but fully responsible to Mayor Standen.

The extent of the girl's injuries are not yet known, but Dr. R. A. Stack said he believed she had sustained a fractured skull.

LANCASTER ENJOYS 128TH ANNIVERSARY

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 27.—This city turned back the pages of its history 128 years today and forgets the worries of a busy world in the glamor of celebrating the 128th anniversary of its founding.

It is a gala day of the year for all Lancaster and a day when the population from all parts of the county unites in a pilgrimage to the city for merry-making and the mardi gras.

The industrial parade this afternoon in which nearly every business concern in the city is to be represented and the mardi gras parade this evening, will be feature events, according to plans of the chamber of commerce.

Because Lancaster was recently turned into an attacker a cash prize of a mackinac was offered for the "wildest man" in the mardi gras parade.

YOUTH DROWNS ON LAST FISHING TRIP

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—The last fishing trip of the season for school-boys ended in tragedy yesterday afternoon when Raymond Wojciechowski, 10, was drowned in Ten Mile Creek.

The boys had taken advantage of a half-holiday from school to go fishing. Armed with crude, homemade poles and with several cans of worms, the chums went to Ten Mile Creek.

Raymond, together with Raymond Curtis, 12; Edward Pawlowiski, 11; and his brother, Sylvester Pawlowiski, 10, ventured onto a railroad trestle.

He lost his balance and fell fifteen feet into the water. The boy's body was recovered.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

MARRIAGE DATE IS ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

Ninety guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. L. A. Larick, near Jamestown, Wednesday evening, to receive the announcement of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Larick's daughter, Miss Mary to Mr. Harold Carter, Miss Mary, which will take place in October.

The announcement was made during a peanut hunt, arranged to amuse the guests, a tiny slip of paper with the names of the couple and the month of their marriage, being found in one of the nuts.

The affair was arranged as a miscellaneous "show" in Mrs. Larick's honor and she received many handsome gifts. Mrs. Larick was assisted by her sisters, Mrs. C. B. Smith and Mrs. J. Harry Nagley. Yellow and white were employed in the decorations and appointments. Several contests were indulged in and a social time followed refreshments. Mrs. Ralph Gonzales and Mrs. Albert Garringer won prizes.

BIRTHDAY DINNER SERVED AT TEA ROOM

Friends of Miss Jessie Scarff arranged a dinner party in honor of her birthday, at the Green Owl Tea Room, near Cedarville, Wednesday evening.

The table was decorated in garden flowers and the place cards carried out the Halloween idea. A three-course dinner was served and a small birthday cake, with candles held a place of honor.

After dinner, music and a social time were enjoyed. Those present were: Mrs. John Harbin, Miss Leona Keller, Miss Ethel Higley, Miss Nellie Weaver, Miss Frances Johnston, Miss Lucia Jener, Miss Violet Lane, Miss Dorothy Johnston, Miss Lucille Beatty and the honor guest, Miss Scarff.

FRIENDS MISSION SOCIETY IN MEETING

An interesting program and a large attendance marked the meeting of the Missionary Society of the Friends Church, at the home of Mrs. Maude Anderson, Wednesday afternoon.

The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Nellie Heaton. A topic from the mission study was read by Mrs. Ina Bogan. Mrs. Cora Davis read a poem, "Selected." Another topic, "What Do We Owe the Foreigner?" was read by Mrs. Marie Jordan.

The hostesses, Mrs. Esther Crawford and Mrs. Anderson served a delicious refreshment course.

OSBORN COUPLE IS MARRIED HERE

Miss Katherine Marie Brock and Mr. Roy Chester Henry, both of Osborn, were united in marriage at the parsonage of First M. E. Church, this city, the Rev. W. N. Shank officiating, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. Henry's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, also of Osborn. The single ring service was used.

COUPLE QUIETLY MARRIED AT PARSONAGE

Miss Josephine Smith, this city and Mr. Homer Newkirk, Dayton, were quietly married Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage of the First M. E. Church, the Rev. W. N. Shank, pastor of the bride officiating.

Mrs. Newkirk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Walnut St. After a short wedding trip, they will go to housekeeping on W. Market St. Mr. Newkirk is engaged in contracting work.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Anderson and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Whittington went to Lima Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. William Regan, Mr. Regan's widow, was before marriage Miss Ada Powers of this city.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

PLANS PRESS MEET

MRS. DWIGHT YOUNG

Mrs. Dwight Young, president of the Woman's Press Club, Dayton, is general chairman of convention arrangements for the Ohio Newspaper Woman's association to be held in that city October 19, 20 and 21.

Approximately 200 women writers from all parts of the state will be in attendance at the convention sessions, which will be addressed by men and women writers of national and international repute.

Ohio, so far as can be ascertained, is the only state in which the women writers are organized. The association dates its inception to 1902, when a small group of newspaper women came together in Toledo. Today its membership roster carries approximately 250 names.

Under Mrs. Young's chairmanship, an elaborate program of entertainment is being arranged for the convention guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Springfield, Mass., formerly of Xenia, who is the guest of Mrs. H. E. Talbot, Dayton, spent Wednesday in Xenia with friends. Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Talbot, and Miss Helen Boyd, were luncheon guests of Mrs. Mary M. Meredith. Mrs. Lawrence who is well remembered here, recently moved to Springfield from New York to make her home with her son, Mr. Mason Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hurley moved Wednesday from Xenia to Springfield, to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Johnston and family moved Wednesday to their new home on W. Market St., formerly the Cherry homestead.

Mrs. Margaret Cobb and daughter, Miss Grace of Calgary, Pa., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fuller, Hill St., are announcing the birth of a son, Thursday morning.

Trinity M. E. Choir will meet for rehearsal Friday evening at 7 o'clock. A full chorus practice will be held at 7:45.

Mr. Edgar Rountzong, Hill St., went to Columbus, O., Wednesday to enter Ohio State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Brown and Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford are leaving Friday for Cleveland to visit their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bradford.

Clarence Neil Moore, eleven years old, Hiving and Collier Sts., is ill at his home, with complications following an injury to his hip, received some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Spahr, N. Detroit St., have returned from a ten days' motor trip to Washington, D. C., and other points in the east.

Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies, First M. E. Church, are urged to attend the address of Mrs. Carrie Geyer, Thursday evening at 7 p. m., at the church, as an election of officers will be held. The public is also cordially invited to hear Mrs. Geyer's interesting account.

Miss Elizabeth Crawford fractured her right arm near the shoulder, when she fell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Andrews, Wednesday. She was removed to the McClellan Hospital.

Mrs. R. D. Adair has been spending a few days in Wilmington, with Mrs. Clinton Nichols.

Mr. T. Victor Kolb, Columbus, former athletic coach, Central High School, is spending a few days with Xenia friends.

Mrs. Ward M. Huston and Mrs. Lawrence Landaker spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mrs. E. M. Woodward, Columbus, O.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Carper, N. Galloway St., have been spending a week with relatives in London, O.

POLITICS ON AIR—Gov. Alfred E. Smith's speech at St. Paul tonight will be broadcast over the red network of the National Broadcasting Company, and six Pacific coast stations, making twenty-six stations in all.

The broadcast will begin at 9 p. m. Central Standard Time. Two hours earlier the red network will carry a broadcast by the Republican national committee, with Speaker Nicholas Longworth making the principal address.

TENTATIVE TAX RATES STAND APPROVED BY BUDGET BODY

Tentative 1928 tax rates for the fifty-two taxing districts in the county, as fixed by County Auditor R. O. Wead, were approved by the County Budget Commission Wednesday and will be immediately certified to the State Tax Commission for final confirmation.

Xenia city's tax rate will therefore be $22.50 per $1,000 property valuation, a reduction of $2 from the 1927 rate.

Auditor Wead announces that the average reduction for each of the fifty-two taxing districts will figure about $1.50 per $1,000 this year.

JUDGE REID DIES; JURIST KNOWN HERE

Common Pleas Judge Charles A. Reid, 64, Washington, C. H., who has often occupied the Greene County common pleas bench, died in Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Thursday morning from appendicitis.

Judge Reid was stricken in Cleveland last Saturday where he was holding court under assignment of Chief Justice Marshall of the supreme court. He was removed to the Columbus hospital Sunday, and his condition was serious from the first.

He served two years in the state legislature as Fayette County's representative and was active in Republican politics. He was elected to the judgeship after his legislative service.

He was president of the Common Pleas Judges Association of Ohio and served on the Fayette County bench seven years and had four and one-half more years to serve. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Penner, who is studying music in Germany.

MURDER VICTIM

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—William Mullen, 27, died today from a bullet wound received in a house here.

Police said they believed Mullen was shot down by a man whom he had cut in a fight Monday night. The man swore revenge then, it was said, and last night when he met Mullen he opened fire without warning, police said.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c to day at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.—H. L. Sayre's Drug Store.

MEMORIAL PLOT IN CEMETERY PLANNED

A committee representing George E. Dignam Post, American Legion at Fairfield, and trustees of Fairfield Cemetery are announcing plans for the joint purchase of a perpetual memorial plot in the cemetery for the soldiers of all wars.

The Legion committee announces it has raised sufficient money to buy one and one-half lots and the trustees are also donating equal space.

It is hoped by the Legion to obtain a 155-mm. captured German field piece, the largest used during the World War, for a permanent memorial.

The Legion committee is composed of R. I. Spicer, J. H. Honaker and Glenn M. Kelley.

Miss Elizabeth Crawford fractured her right arm near the shoulder, when she fell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Andrews, Wednesday. She was removed to the McClellan Hospital.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market his laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depressions, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He never believed they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you—see special offer in coupon:

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE FOOLISH—Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!—Isa. 5:21.

GUSH AND REAL JOBS

It is becoming harder each year for those candidates to "get by" whose principal assets are an ability to slap backs and kiss babies.

Today's voters read newspapers, magazines and books, and they are more widely informed upon every subject of public interest than ever before. Along with this better information has come a disposition on the part of many to resent the attitude of easy familiarity toward them on the part of candidates. Friendliness they expect, of course, if not gush.

Also the voters are beginning to ask embarrassing questions of even the most gushing aspirants for office. Thus if one running for an office declares himself to be the undying champion of labor, those who earn their living by the sweat of their brows are prone to inquire, "What do you know about labor?" We observe no callouses on your hands?

Herbert Hoover could not be embarrassed by such questions. He has toiled in the mines, labored as a collector of laundry, built great engineering works in America and abroad, pounded the keys of a typewriter for fifty dollars a month, worked on a farm and now owns farms.

But equally important is the record of Mr. Hoover both in public and private life as it concerns agriculture and labor. To him the labor and farm situations are interwoven.

"FARM PRICES FALL WITH THE INABILITY OF MEN TO BUY" he is quoted as saying.

"I, for one, am willing to trust the organized American workers to take care of their wages if we can keep our economic system in so healthy a condition that there is a job for every man.

"The farmer cannot sell his produce to people out of a job."

WHY MILLIONS ARE STARVING

A population of 1,500,000 are facing death from starvation in sections of China where the crops have failed. In many villages there is nothing to eat but the grasshoppers that destroyed the crops.

All this has happened because these people have clung to their ancient traditions and would not accept modern knowledge. The Chinese are not the only people who refuse to use modern knowledge. There are some of them even in this enlightened country. We are not in danger of having to eat grasshoppers, but millions of Americans will never get out of the rut because they show so little interest in modern knowledge.

The telephone operators in New York will now tell you the correct time if you call central but it costs you a nickel. Another proof of the old adage that time is money.

The fellow who complains that his privileges are being taken away from him and his personal liberty destroyed, should remember that a hundred and fifty years ago it was against the law to go joy-riding on the Sabbath.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

POVERTY

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, says there is enough machinery and power in the world to abolish poverty. It is true that we do not make as good use of machinery and power as we ought to, due to ignorance, but one of the outstanding causes of poverty is the laziness of the individual. What can machinery do against man's indolence to help himself? Even a Socialist candidate for president can't guarantee a perfect world so long as people are like they are.

FOLDED HANDS

A British author by the name of King has written a book of essays or comments on life. He calls his book "Folded Hands." He gives it this name because folded hands indicate that time of life—usually in middle age—when we come to the conclusion we can't do much in the way of changing people or reforming them. We decide to take them as they are and let it go at that. It is the period when adjustment comes home to stay.

"Folded hands" is a good name for it.

MISREPRESENTATION

One of life's major temptations is the temptation to misrepresent. It is so easy to misrepresent things, just a little, for our own benefit. It is so easy to make ourselves and the thing we want to do appear in a favorable light. It is pretty hard to set out all the facts when all the facts are not favorable. All automobile wheels wobble a little, from one cause or another. If they don't wobble more than an eighth of an inch they do very well and don't need to be changed. Most of us wobble a little on the truth. Do we keep within an eighth of an inch?

ACTING

William James, long famous as a psychologist of the most scholarly sort, used to say that if we would but ACT as though we felt cheerful, we might soon find ourselves cheerful. His point was that the emotion follows the act, rather than the act following the emotion. Whistle when you don't feel like whistling. There are many things worth doing which you do not like to do. If you have the courage and the energy to do them, like them or not, you may be surprised to find yourself in the easy habit of doing them.

WHO KNOWS?

It is said that painless death to be inflicted on sufferers from incurable diseases will be made legal in Czechoslovakia. The written approval of two physicians will have to be had. Such a law may be a step forward. It may be progress, but human beings will have to become very wise to deal finally with life and death. And the state is made up of all of us imperfect humans.

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK. — It has always struck me as being ironic that at the praiseworthy lays about New York are sung by persons from small towns. The best novels about New York life (there are surprisingly few of them) are from the hands of persons who are not New Yorkers. The New Yorker either agrees with or is indifferent to all the condemnatory criticism of his home town, and leaves it for others to do the denigrating.

Which observations are prompted by a letter addressed to this column from New Castle, Ind. A short time ago I ventured the observation that New York was no place to sleep (because of the unceasing noise) and no place to sit down (because there are no free public seats). My New Castle correspondent resents these slurs upon New York and rushes to its defense:

"In New York, one can go home if he wants to rest, he does it have to lounge around in front of a store.

"New York has big theatres, not dinky ones like here, and you can find a seat without standing a half hour.

"One of the smallest hotels in New York has four lounges.

"Long Island isn't Manhattan.

"New York's Broadway is a Broadway, not a shipping district.

"New York's a place to stand on your feet and be awake, not asleep.

"In small towns husband and children stay in the house and suck their tongues. In New York the husbands walk the children.

"Don't let anybody kid you about New York."

We herewith offer our New Castle correspondent a season pass to Central park if he and a companion will get into seats without bribery in the Roxy, Capitol or Paramount, the largest movie theatres on Broadway, any evening in the week after 7, in less than a half an hour.

New York is a town where folks are willing to pay $1 for a seat in a movie theatre and wait an hour to get it, in order to see a picture that will be at a theatre nearer their homes the following week for 25 cents.

And as for one being able to go home if one wants to rest, in New York home may be from four to 20 miles, and from 15 minutes to two hours from the place one gets tired and wishes there were one of those friendly benches such as one sees in small towns.

Prize question of the week (from Tiffin, O.): "Please tell me what I ought to know about New York." That's all there is to the correspondent's letter.

Answer in one sentence: It's bigger than Tiffin.

(We're sending our correspondent "First Aid to New York Visitors," a brief, mimeographed guide to the city, by C. K.)

Persons who do not care to hear from us: Those who don't send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Those who send an unstamped, self-addressed envelope.

Those who enclose a return envelope with the flap glued down.

Those who ask us how to get a job in New York. (We have a hard time finding and keeping one ourselves.)

From all others we are pleased to hear. What do you want to know about New York?

Gasoline fumes are gradually killing the few remaining trees in New York streets. It is equally difficult for others to live in the noxious atmosphere so that imitation plants are now used as decorations along the swanky apartment dwelling streets. They are made of wire and gutta percha, and are surrounded by "grass" made of excelsior dyed green.

Even "nature" is unnatural in New York!

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

The Care of the Hair—How to Shampoo

A woman's hair is one of her chief attractions, and in this particular thing, as in no other part of her body, every attention that she gives it is promptly visible. In a word, the beauty of our hair and the health of it are dependent entirely upon ourselves.

The first and most important part of proper hair care is the shampoo. To those of you who think of a shampoo as a weekly or fortnightly ritual not worth either much time or much consideration, it will probably be amazing for me to tell you that there are actually dozens of shampoos. By this I do not merely mean that there are dozens of brands on the market. I mean that there are a dozen different kinds, each one particularly suited to some individual type of hair. Before I go into them further, I am going to tell you very simply the correct way to shampoo, because no matter how good your ingredients, if you do not know how to use them, you will not gain the full value from the operation.

To begin, you must have an abundance of hot water at your command, or the shampoo will not be successful. I know I need not tell you the importance of proper tools, so I will simply continue myself to reviewing to you just what they are. The first is a length of rubber tubing, to be fastened to your faucet to facilitate the job of rinsing. The second is a glass, preferably marked off in ounces, so that you can prepare your shampoo with accuracy and be very sure of the results. The last is plenty of good, coarse towels, so that in drying, your scalp may be stimulated by friction to new health and activity. Each of these items with the exception of the towels, can be purchased in the ten cent store, so that the matter of proper shampooing is dependent more upon common sense than upon any expensive preparation.

Begin by wetting the hair thoroughly. Use a small amount of shampoo. For the average woman two ounces of herbal shampoo, which is very strong and very potent, to six ounces of water. This is sufficient for two or three latherings, which are absolutely necessary to insure perfect cleanliness. Apply this on the hair, rub in well with the fingertips, rinse out with warm water. Apply the shampoo again if necessary, and finish by rinsing with a continuous spraying of warm water which passes through the rubber tube. Do not use absolute cold water as a final rinse, as it has a slight tendency to make the hair brittle if it is naturally wavy.

The Tuberculin Skin test Gives Positive Diagnosis Tests for Tuberculosis

"I went with a boy friend for two months, saw him almost every day, danced with him and kissed him. He has just died of tuberculosis, and he did not even know it. I have had my lungs examined by a doctor and he could find nothing wrong with them. I did not tell him of my friend. Is there anything else I can do to make sure if I have contracted the germ?"

"WORRIED."

You must always tell your doctor everything relating to your case. Worried. Had you done so he might have given you the tuberculin skin test. This is made by a tiny scratch of the skin, not sufficient to draw blood, through a drop of tuberculin. Tuberculin is a liquid in which tubercle bacilli have grown and have been filtered off, just leaving a little Salad—On each plate put first fresh crisp spinach, cut up a slice of tomato, two or three slices cucumber, two radishes and a hard-boiled egg, sliced. Then dabs of salad dressing.

Bran Cookies—Cream one-half cup shortening with one cup sugar. Beat in one egg, then add two cups bran, two cups flour, alternately with three-fourths cup sour milk, to which one-half teaspoon baking soda has been mixed. One-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon to be sifted with flour, also two teaspoons baking powder. Add one cup floured seedless raisins. Mix well and drop with a teaspoon on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven. Makes 40 cookies.

of the poison of the germ. If the test is positive, there will be little area of redness around the spot in 12 to 24 hours.

If it is positive, it may or may not mean that your recent exposure is the cause, for a large percentage of healthy individuals will have a positive reaction to some old infection that never has been active for the resistance has been strong enough to wall the germs off. In the presence of symptoms of tuberculosis, however, it is diagnostic of the disease.

As you have no symptoms, the thing for you to do is to forget the occurrence for worry will lower your resistance. Live hygienically and get plenty of sleep and outdoor exercise and a correct diet. Above all things, don't try to reduce to the extreme slenderness which young girls today seem to favor, for that means a deficient diet. A deficient diet is undoubtedly the cause of the increase of tuberculosis among young girls.

For those who are interested, we have an article on Tuberculosis which has a list of books on the subject written by authorities for the layman. See directions.

Rule for Determining Normal Adult Weight

Mrs. J.—A good workable rule for determining normal adult weight is to allow 110 pounds for 5 ft. in height in stocking feet (without clothes), and 5½ pounds for each inch over that. One can vary about 5 to 10 pounds either way, depending upon the heaviness of the frame, and still be within the normal. According to this rule, your ideal weight, Mrs. J., is around 118 pounds, as you are 5 ft. 1½ inches tall. You certainly have done remarkably well to have reduced 40 pounds.

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

These efficiency men startle me at times. No act is so trivial but there's a right and wrong way to do it. It seems that you ought to give your phone number in different ways, according to circumstances. When you go up to the girl in charge of the switchboard in a hotel lobby, you should not say, for example, Schuyler 1621, but 1621 Schuyler. That makes it easier for the girl to write on her pad or ticket the number first and the name of the branch line afterward. This, in theory at least, greatly reduces the number of mistakes. If the girl wrote Schuyler 1621 instead of 1621 Schuyler, she might forget the number while making whatever abbreviation she uses for Schuyler. On the other hand, when giving a number to the operator at central it is advantageous to give the name of the branch first. Then she is able to plug into the right line before you have finished giving your number.

Grape Conserve

Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe
One small basket grapes, one-half pound English walnut meats, one pound raisins. Pulp grapes and cook pulp. Put through sieve. Mix and add one cup sugar to each cup of grapes. Cook fifteen minutes after they begin to boil well. Wash and cut walnut meats into small pieces and add nuts and raisins to grape pulp. Put directly in jars.

Calorie Values of Foods

The pamphlet on reducing contains the foundation diet and a sufficient number of foods and their caloric values to tide you over until you can go to a bookstore or library and get a book on dietetics which will give you the calories in the other foods.

You have to judge puddings and other combinations approximately, by the value of the different ingredients. Don't forget that sauces on puddings make them run up sky high. Plain gelatine puddings are lower in calories than the average pudding because there is no fat in them. In general, you can judge the caloric value by the amount of sugar that you think it would take to make the pudding as sweet as it is. One cup is approximately 100 C.

Water ices are much better to take than ice cream, for, as with the gelatine puddings, they have no fat in them. One-half cup (scent) of the water ices of any flavor registers 100 C., while ice cream is only one-fourth cup to the 100 C.

In computing the calories consumed, give them the benefit of a high count, if you are reducing; and if you are trying to gain, the low count.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

NEW YORK — Old-timers in Wall Street say they never saw so little betting on a presidential election in this one.

Which is peculiar, considering how interested the public seems to be. Brokers had expected it to be a campaign of record-breaking stakes.

The odds started at two and a half to one in Hoover's favor. If these early offers had been freely covered this wide margin of difference between the two candidates would have been cut down very quickly, until today the rate probably would be not far from fifty-fifty.

Instead there were practically no takers. The result is that the original two-and-a-half-to-one quotation still prevails.

Wagers on past elections, as far back as the most venerable brokers can remember, have totaled well up into the millions. According to the best judges' estimates, this year's hardly reach a hundred thousand.

Even four years ago—one-sided as the Coolidge-Davis contest was—the figures beat the present ones fully fifty times over. To be sure, not much money was placed on John W. Davis to win, but plenty of it was staked on the results in various states and on the size of majorities.

Such a tremendous slump, at the very time when they were looking for a regular orgy of gambling, puzzles as well as pains the Wall Streeters.

Of course it is extremely immoral to bet on elections, and it would be nice to think that the voters have had a real change of heart, and that that is the explanation of this latest phenomenon.

However, politicians I have talked with appear to guess otherwise.

Their theory is that most people are to uncertain as to the outcome of the November election to feel like risking many yellow-backs on it.

The fact is that the politicians are "up in the air" this year as they never were before. Speaking for publication, naturally, they refuse to admit it. Each side claims everything in sight for itself.

But confidentially they do not mind confessing that they have not the ghost of an idea who will win this coming election. No one has any idea who will win it, but they have no idea whether one side or the other will win it by a very tight squeak, or by a landslide.

You hear the same undertone of uncertainty equally at Smith's headquarters here in New York and at Hoover's in Washington.

The issues are so entirely different from any issues that ever figured before in a national election and the candidates are so different from any past candidates, and from each other, that the politicians simply have nothing to "tie to" in drawing any sort of a conclusion.

More parts of the country are "doubtful" than ever before. More people are refraining from telling which ticket they favor. This "doubtful" territory and these "doubtful" people may all go one way, and it may be either way, or they may break up into any number of combinations.

Under such circumstances the slickest politician in the world can only wait for whatever may happen.

The shrinkage in the volume of Wall Street's election betting just goes to show—if the theory referred to explains it correctly—how exceedingly unreliable the situation is.

A shrinkage from five or ten millions down to a measly little hundred thousand is "some" shrinkage.

A surgical operation was one of the prizes offered in the recent London Stock Exchange "Help Yourself" Society competition.

Made by Guadagnini, whose instruments were valued at $2,500 each a few years ago, a violin was sold in London recently for only $1,900.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

DOES GIRL 'LEAD A MAN ON' IF SHE LETS HIM KISS HER?

How shall we define the term "leading a man on"? If a thoroughly up-to-date man and maid "date," and she allows him the privilege of a goodnight kiss, etc., shall this be construed as encouraging him? Or is he to take it for granted, as such up-to-date young person, that the kiss is just part of the program, her way of parting with all her boy friends? This petting business must be understood by all the crowd, it seems to me, or it leads to complications such as the following:

"My Dear Mrs. Lee: This is my first experience in coming to you for advice, but here's hoping you can help me. I'm 29 years of age and yet am not quite certain as to the solution of this problem. I am what one calls—I suppose—a modern flapper. I drink a bit, smoke a bit and cuss a bit. I have been going with a certain young man for a little while, off and on, of course, and now he has asked me to marry him. When I asked him he said that I had 'led him on,' and didn't respect me any more. Mrs. Lee, he knew that I allow the boys I go on dates with to kiss me, etc. I admire him greatly and would like to keep him as a friend. How can I explain that I did not lead him on?"

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Last fall I fell in love with a boy of my own age. He is a nice, respectable boy, but my folks object to me going with him. What do you think about it? He has told me he loved me and I love him. He thinks I should never speak to another boy. He has gone with several girls since I have been going with him. Do you think it is right?"

"TOOTS."

Maybe that is why your parents do not like him, Toots, because he does not "play fair." As long as he expects you to go with only him he should not go with other girls.

FOOD AT ALL COSTS

"Albatross was comforted at once, just as Cormorant had hoped he would be, and greatly delighted as well.

"That puts an entirely different face upon the matter," declared the captain. "I am ashamed of myself for being so sulky. I will make friends with the very next sailor that comes near me. But after all how was I to know what they wanted me for?"

"And wouldn't you have been mad if you had run into a hook of scurvy value by the pound? My mouth still aches from the old thing. I believe it is cut a little. But that don't matter so much now that I know that the Two-Legs regard me so highly. One thing worries me, though. Do you think I'll get enough to eat?"

"At the question Cormorant chuckled.

"Still worrying about your stomach," said he, "I should think that you would forget food for a while when it was really 'cats' that go into all this trouble."

"No matter what might happen to me I could not stop wishing for something to nibble on," cried Albatross. "I should not be a real Albatross if I could. I am a bit ashamed of myself, but I can't help it." Albatross sadly shook his head. Cormorant chuckled again.

"Well, don't feel downcast over it. If eating will make you happy you are going to be a very joyous bird."

"I heard the sailors say that they were going to feed you all that you could possibly devour. I am only afraid that you will become ill from stuffing. But you asked me who I am and why

I am here, so I will tell you." "Cormorant then went on to explain all that had happened that day, and he and Albatross became so interested in the story that neither of them noticed Bill, the sailor, until he was almost upon them. Frightened, Cormorant soared high into the rigging, then curious to know what the fellow was going to say, he hung, head-downward, to listen. With his first words Cormorant knew that Albatross had a true friend on board.

"Come my beautiful one, not snub any longer," said Bill in a tone so kind that it made Cormorant's heart throb. No Two-Legs had ever spoken to him like that—perhaps no Two-Legs ever would. Silly Cormorant actually envied the attention Albatross was receiving."

CENTRAL READY FOR OPENING GRID GAME WITH WASHINGTON

With a three-week period of conditioning at an end, Xenia Central High School gridgers have virtually completed laying of plans for their first objective—Washington C. H. High School on the latter's gridiron Friday afternoon.

The contest will start at 3 o'clock and will be played at Craig's Field, school officials announced.

Dave Reese, Dayton, noted official, will referee the game with "Dutch" Thiele acting as umpire.

The greater part of the student body as well as a large number of Xenia rooters will accompany the team to Washington C. H. to lend moral support.

The Blue and White squad tapered off its training for the Blue Lions Wednesday afternoon with light scrimmage practice and blocking and tackling. The regulars worked out against the scrubs with the second team using Washington C. H. plays.

The same procedure is on the schedule for the final practice Thursday night.

HUNTERS ADVISED OF OPEN SEASON

Ernest L. Harner, county game protector, is advising sportsmen of Greene County that under a change in the law this year, the open season for squirrel hunting extends from October 1 to October 15, inclusive.

The bag limit is four in one day. Squirrels whether taken inside or outside of the state, may not be sold or bought at any time.

Hunters must have first a license and then permission of the owner of the land on whose property they wish to hunt.

Red and pine squirrels may be killed at any time and do not count in the bag limits on the gray and fox squirrels, Mr. Harner announces.

"Stop Worrying About Those Varicose Veins"

Simple Home Treatment
Giving Amazing Results

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your drugist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply as directed night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size.

BOWERMASTER WILL BE RELEASED FROM PRISON OCTOBER 15

Elmer Bowermaster from Greene County is numbered among the 156 prisoners of the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield, O. who will be released on parole from the institution October 15.

Bowermaster was the instigator of a jail delivery plot March 6, 1927, which was thwarted by Sheriff Ohmer Tate and his deputies when they detected him attempting to smuggle a dozen back-saws to a prisoner in the County Jail.

Bowermaster at that time was under parole from a sentence of from one to seven years in the state reformatory for auto theft. He was arrested for parole violation February 28, 1925, but released for the second time March 14, 1925 upon his mother's plea.

After the jail delivery was foiled, Bowermaster was again charged with parole violation and committed to the state reformatory after Judge R. L. Gowdy had ordered the sentence previously pronounced, enforced.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO CONDUCT LITERARY AND MUSIC CONTESTS

Literary-music contests between county schools will be held this winter preceding the opening of the basketball season and after its close, according to plans formulated by superintendents at a recent meeting.

Memorized readings, orations, one-act plays, chorus singing, vocal duets and quartets will be featured in the contests and other forms of entertainment will be added later. Orations will be limited to five minutes, readings to five minutes, one-act plays to twenty minutes while no limit has been fixed on the musical selections.

The nine high school community centers in the county have been grouped and dated as follows: Ross, Jamestown and Jefferson constitute group one and will hold their meeting November 8; Cedarville, Yellow Springs and Beavercreek are in group two and will hold their meeting November 16; Caesar Creek, Bellbrook and Spring Valley are in the third group and will hold their meeting November 23.

The superintendents of schools in each group are to arrange the date and time for the contest and shall agree on neutral judges. The superintendent of the entertaining school will preside at the meeting. The final contest among the winners in the preliminaries will be held Friday, March 8 and prizes will be awarded the winners. The net receipts of the contests will be divided equally among the contesting schools for both preliminaries and finals.

Superintendents who arranged plans for the contests were: A. C. Eubank, Beavercreek; H. L. Sams, Caesar Creek; H. D. Furst, Cedarville; R. E. Correll, Jamestown; A. F. Devoe, Bowersville; A. F. Roush, Ross; J. W. Whiteside, Spring Valley; R. S. Blackburn, Bellbrook and N. S. Wilder, Yellow Springs.

READING CIRCLE IS FORMED BY TEACHERS

Silvercreek Twp. school teachers have organized a reading circle and arranged for regular meetings in order to read and discuss the several professional books provided by the O. T. R. C. for 1928-29.

The organization was perfected at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Zeiner, teacher at Pleasant Valley and Mrs. Zeiner was elected president and Miss Phyllis Jones, teacher at Zaza, secretary. Teachers in the group besides Mrs. Zeiner and Miss Jones are: Miss Goldie Stackhouse, of Myers School; Miss Margaret Hobbs, Junkin; Miss Hazel Hutzlar, Silver Ridge; Joseph Willis, of Oak Knoll and J. F. Gordon of Schooley.

LEGAL NOTICE

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Auditor of the City of Xenia, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on the 19th day of October, 1928, for the purchase of bonds of said City in the aggregate sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), dated September 1, 1928. Said bonds shall be in the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), each, and shall draw interest at the rate of five and one-half (5½%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of September and March of each year. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows: Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), payable in each of the years September 1, 1930 to September 1, 1933, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing a fund for the extension of water works plant of the City of Xenia, Ohio, and under authority of the laws of Ohio, particularly the Uniform Bond Act of the General Code, and in accordance with a certain ordinance of said City, entitled, "An ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, for the purpose of the extension of its water plant by the construction of aerators, extension of building and incidental connections, for the proper supply of water to the corporation and the inhabitants thereof."

Bidders may present a bid for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than herein fixed, conditioned that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one-quarter of one (¼) per cent or multiple thereof.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of the bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids to be accompanied with a certified check on a solvent bank, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Xenia, Ohio, for two per cent of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth within ten (10) days from the time of award. Said check to be retained by said City if said condition is not fulfilled.

The right is reserved by the City of Xenia to reject any and all bids.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), Water Works Extension Bonds."

Dated this September 25th, 1928.

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND TRUSTEES CUT ANNUAL LEVY

Although the interest and sinking fund trustees have made a cut of .78 of a mill in their tax levy for 1928, a decrease of $10,663.48 based on the assessed valuation of property for 1929, they have advised City Auditor T. H. Zell that they will be able to take care of the principal and interest due on bond issues in 1929 due to a surplus in their hands.

This was disclosed after the city auditor had notified the trustees that their levy would be insufficient to provide for principal and interest on bonds falling due next year.

It will be necessary to have $45,881 to take care of the principal and interest, including $28,300 principal and $17,581 in interest in 1929, City Auditor Zell announces.

PETITION FOR NEW PUBLIC ROAD IN OSBORN DISMISSED HERE

Following final hearing Wednesday at which discussions of both sides of the question were heard, County Commissioners dismissed a petition filed by Attorney Morris D. Rice, Osborn, O., and others, seeking authority for the location of a public thoroughfare through the village.

The petitioners gave notice of appealing the decision to Probate Court and commissioners fixed the appeal bond at $500. The original petition requesting establishment of the thoroughfare was signed by 102 people.

TRUCK AWAITS TEST BEFORE BEGINNING FIRE SERVICE HERE

Although the new pumper fire truck purchased by City Commission to strengthen the Xenia Fire Department was delivered here more than two weeks ago, it has not yet been put into service and is serving as something more ornamental than useful at the engine house.

City officials explain the reason for this is that before the truck could be used the necessary legislation had to be passed by the commission to create a fund with which to finance its purchase. Commission did this at its last meeting by selling $11,000 worth of bonds.

Now, since the new truck has never been tested as to its efficiency and capability of fulfilling its guaranteed qualifications, the pumper must be subjected to an underwriter's test before it can be placed into actual service, officials explain.

TECHNICAL ERRORS SUBJECT OF REPORT BY OHIO EXAMINERS

Technical errors, mistakes of the mind but not of the heart, were pointed out by Frank B. Thomas and R. D. Huffman, state examiners in the recent report to the State Bureau of Accounting of an examination of the offices of the City of Xenia, covering the period from September 1, 1926 to June 18, 1928, an examination of the report discloses. Only minor discrepancies were found.

The report showed illegal payment of $1,989.61; a finding for adjustment of $9.73 and findings for recovery of $250.05.

The illegal payment, the examiners found, included $545.40 paid to Ellsworth Weaklin for janitor work at the city building under an ordinance which had been repealed.

City officials explain that in the opinion of the examiners the payment was irregular. An ordinance passed by commission December 8, 1927 repealed an ordinance providing for the salary of the janitor of the city building at the rate of $90 per month.

Since January 1, 1928 the city has paid Weaklin $24 a week and accordingly all payments to him as janitor from January 1 to June 18, 1928, were illegal.

The protest against the thoroughfare was based on four charges:

- 1—That the road is not for the public benefit.
- 2—That it would place a burdensome tax on the tax-payers of the township or abutting property owners and at the same time exempt to a large extent, because of vacant lots, the main indicators for the road, The International Development Co.
- 3—That the thoroughfare would parallel an already established road which is able to take care of traffic between the cities of Springfield and Dayton.
- 4—That the general traffic of the community is sufficient for a street directly in front of the public school; where school buses are driven and entertainments and public gatherings are held nine months out of the year.

ELECTRICITY TO BE LECTURE SUBJECT

Under auspices of Xenia Central High School, Louis Williams, Chicago, Ill., noted lyceum course and chautauqua lecturer, will illustrate the "Wonders of Electricity" at a special assembly of the student body in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at 10:30 a. m. Friday. A small admission will be charged.

The lecturer is bringing with him several thousand dollars worth of electrical equipment which will be placed on the stage and used for purposes of illustration.

16, aggregating $545.40 were held illegal. The city officials had merely hired him by the day on a regular salary.

Other irregular payments listed included $1,200.61 paid The Foster Engineering Co. and $2,663.60 paid the Stiles Co. The last two items were for extra work awarded without contract. The total of these payments exceeded $500 and were held illegal under the state law. City officials say they were within their rights in awarding the work by what is known as force account but that errors made were technical.

In the finding for recovery, Mayor John W. Prugh, Bessie Kennedy and Mary Kennedy allegedly received overpay of wages of $6.83, $11.86 and $7.45, respectively. The salaries were held overpaid because new salary ordinance passed as emergency measures were put into effect before expiration of thirty days.

A finding for recovery of $80.32 was returned against the Citizens' National Bank in favor of the interest and sinking fund for interest on deposits of its bonds and coupon account.

Findings for recovery also included $141.70 paid to the county from the city and $1.90 to the state from the city. Both amounts have since been paid, the report shows.

DR. ESPEY HEADS MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. Paul D. Espey, Xenia, was elected president of the Second Counsellor District Medical Society, a branch of the Ohio State Medical Society, at the Thursday session of the convention held in Dayton since Monday.

Dr. O. B. Conklin, Dayton, was elected secretary; Dr. C. H. Hanning, Dayton, treasurer; and Dr. D. C. Houser, Urbana, counsellor.

YOUTH HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

George Corbett, 19, 824 E. Market St., received lacerations in his left cheek, right leg and back of his head, when he was struck and knocked down by the auto driven by Walter Shoecraft, also colored, on Jasper Ave., Wednesday evening.

Corbett was walking on Jasper Ave., and did not notice the approaching machine. It is said, Dr. F. M. Chambliss dressed his injuries.

Shoecraft is employed as chauffeur for the H. E. Schmidt Grocery.

HOME-COMING PAYS FOR SELF:
AUDITORIUM FUND HAS DEFICIT

The 1928 Greene County Home-Coming celebration more than paid for itself, a profit of $956.35 being realized, according to a financial report prepared by the Executive Committee of the Greene County Home-Coming Association. Receipts amounted to $4,527.14, less expenditures totalling $3,570.79, leaving a balance on hand of $956.35, which has been transferred to the fund for the new community pavilion constructed in Shawnee Park for Home-Coming use and as a permanent auditorium.

The Executive Committee also drew up a separate report dealing with the cost of erecting the auditorium and disclosing that a deficit exists in this fund amounting to $1,336.98.

Receipts for the building fund, including $7,289.70 in subscriptions and the $956.35 transfer from the home-coming surplus, amounted to $8,246.05.

The cost of building the pavilion was $10,055.03.

INJUNCTION SUIT
CLAIMS VIOLATION OF BUILDING CODE

In an injunction suit filed in Common Pleas Court against B. G. Dyer and Lillie F. Dyer, William A. Schneider, constable of the village of Osborn, charges the defendants are conducting a meat and grocery business which violates the town's building code particularly with reference to a section that forbids anything that is "offensive to a high-class residential district."

Constable Schneider charges the defendants recently built an addition to the rear of their residence, started a grocery and meat business, and are now erecting an addition to the front of the house for the purpose of moving the business from the rear to the front part of the dwelling.

The plaintiff complains that his own home is only fifty feet away and that the defendants' business has ruined the value of his property and amounts to a nuisance to the neighborhood.

Constable Schneider seeks a temporary restraining order enjoining the defendants from moving their store from its present location in the house and from erecting any addition to the house to be used as a store room. The plaintiff also desires a permanent injunction preventing the defendants from operating their business any place on their premises. Morris D. Rice is attorney for the plaintiff.

GIVEN DIVORCE

Florence Davis has been granted a divorce from Ralph Davis in Common Pleas Court on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Custody of the child, Dena, has also been confided exclusively to the plaintiff.

The court enjoined the defendant from interfering in the custody but has given him the privilege of visiting her on the second Saturday and Sunday of every other month in the year.

The defendant must continue his weekly payments of $5. The court decided, ruling that if he defaults in any payment he will be held in contempt of court. The plaintiff was ordered to recover costs of the action and $15 as reasonably compensation for attorney fees.

GUARDIAN NAMED

W. L. Miller has been appointed guardian of Elizabeth A. Hiller, an incompetent person, and has filed bond of $60,000 in Probate Court.

SALE ORDERED

Sale of real estate has been ordered in the case of Belle Van Eaton, as executrix of the estate of Martha Bradford, deceased, against Mary R. Bradford and others in Probate Court. T. C. Long, Morris Bebb and George C. Stokes were named appraisers.

APPROVE SALE

Public sale of property to the defendant for $770 has been confirmed in the case of William Smith, as executor of the estate of Fannie Lettich Scott, deceased, against James W. Scott and others in Probate Court.

ESTATE WORTHLESS

Gross value of the estate of Fannie L. Scott, deceased, is placed at $1,225 in Probate Court. Debts and the cost of administration total $1,258.96, leaving the estate valueless.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Herschel E. Massie, R. R. No. 3, Osborn, merchant, and Ruth McKee, Osborn.

Everett Lewis Dabe, Wilmington, O., farmer, and Mary Luella Hurley, 239 S. Chestnut St., Xenia, Rev. Russell Burkett.

SINGER WINS

JOHN W. COSBY
Bass-Baritone

John Wilson Cosby, 21, son of J. L. Cosby, Cincinnati, former Xenian, was one of Ohio's first quartette of winners in the 1928 National Radio Audition, recently announced Cosby, a bass-baritone, has been heard in the Cincinnati May Festival and in recent productions of the Hyde Park Opera Club.

LEARNS OF DEATH

Mrs. Clinton Tobias, 12 Miller Ave., received word Tuesday of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Rachel Huggell, Tuesday morning at her home in Lebanon. Mrs. Huggell was 88 years old. Funeral services will be held at Bethany Church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning with interment in Bethany Cemetery.

FORFEITS BOND

H. Long, West Virginia, arrested Wednesday by Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, on a charge of speeding, forfeited $10 appearance bond for failure to appear before Mayor John W. Prugh for a hearing. The traffic officer charged him with driving forty-five miles an hour on E. Main St.

Your Home Is You

If you furnished your home yourself adding to it as you needed new pieces, discarding, changing—your home tells a story about you. It tells about your tastes, about your sense of proportions, your sense of correctness—your up-to-dateness. For your home is you just as your clothes, your bob, and your smile are you. And just as surely as friends judge you by your clothes, just so surely do they judge you by your home. So many look to us, too, for just the things they need to be IN STYLE. Their homes must say nice things about them always.

Now Every Minute Sees Another GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR Placed In Some American Home

The General Electric Refrigerator was first announced just fifteen months ago. At that time, these refrigerators were being placed in homes at the rate of one a day. Now they are going into American homes at the impressive rate of one a minute, every day.

A Nation-Wide Organization Has Been Created

At the beginning of 1927, fourteen dealers handled the General Electric Refrigerator. Today there are more than 5500. Where only 70 people were engaged, today there are 11,500.

This swift but sound growth is a tribute to the newest product of the Research Laboratories of General Electric—a

JURIES' MAJORITY VERDICTS OPPOSED

By THADDEUS CARAWAY
U. S. Senator From Arkansas

(Thaddeus H. Caraway was born in Stoddard County, Missouri, October 17, 1871. He was graduated from Dixon College, Tennessee, and admitted to the Arkansas bar in 1900, beginning his practice of law at Lake City. He was elected prosecuting attorney for the second judicial circuit of Arkansas for two terms, 1908-1912, and then served in congress for eight years as representative from the first Arkansas district. He is now serving his second term as United States senator, having been first elected in 1921, on the Democratic ticket. His home is in Jonesboro, Ark.)

I would oppose any legislative proposal to change the federal jury system with respect to unanimity of verdicts. While I understand that in one or more states the procedure of jury verdicts by a majority of the jury is being tried out, I believe the requirements of unanimous verdicts is a proper one.

I personally have a great respect for the courts and juries, as they were understood at the time of the framing of the federal constitution. I have a great respect for the composite judgment of groups of people. I have the greatest respect for public opinion when formed deliberately, uninfluenced by prejudice or passion, which usually represents the very ideals for which America strives.

I had a case, particularly in my mind in this connection which involved property valued at approximately half a million dollars. The testimony was taken in Sweden and Germany. It took me almost a week to read the rambling deposition in the course of the case. The jury finally returned a verdict for an amount that made the proportion of loss, as to the value of goods involved, at 41 1/4 per cent. The British underwriters had car-

FELT MISERABLE ALL OVER BEFORE TAKING KONJOLA

Local Man Says New Medicine Built Up His Rundown System.

Twenty-two different roots and herbs combined with other recognized medical ingredients go into the making of this new Konjola medicine. Sufferers from every section of Xenia are praising this compound after it relieved them of disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Suburban cases of rheumatism and neuritis have been ended. The Konjola Man is personally explaining the merits of this new medicine to vast crowds of people, and at the time many well known men and women are strongly endorsing this remedy. For instance just a few days ago Mr. A. H. Caplinger, 564 Cincinnati Avenue, Xenia, made the following statement to the Konjola Man who is at the Gallaher Drug Store, this city:

"Before taking Konjola I suffered from various ailments for many years," said Caplinger, "and I really didn't think it was possible for one medicine to restore my health like Konjola did."

"My health was in a general rundown condition and no matter what I would do for it, I still seemed to be dragging through life, half sick all the time. My stomach, meal I ate caused intense suffering in the pit of my stomach. The gas which used to form would rise into my throat and mouth making it very unpleasant for me. I would sometimes be attacked with awful belching spells when bits of undigested food would come up making it hard to keep any thing that I ate on my stomach. I was awfully constipated and poisons filled my system so that I felt tired and worn out all day long. At nights I couldn't rest well but would toss back and forth on the bed for hours before going to sleep. I was in this condition for almost a year, and was getting discouraged."

"I heard of Konjola through a friend and made up my mind to try this medicine. It's a blessing that I did for this medicine is just what I always needed. I have taken but three bottles of Konjola but it has made me feel better than I have for years. My appetite is wonderful now and I can sit down and eat without thought of after effects. The gas never forms now and the belching spells that used to come over me are permanently ended. I never have to take any kind of laxative because Konjola cleansed my whole inner-system. In fact, I feel fine in every way and it is all due to my taking Konjola. I am glad to endorse your medicine because I know what it will do and think it should be used by everyone troubled as I was."

The Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, Xenia, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free sample given.

med over $10,000 of insurance on the cargo involved. The British losses were settled on the actuary's figures, which were 40 per cent. In other words, the jury (made up of men none of whom had ever seen a cargo or ship) fixed the rate at 41 1/4 per cent and the actuary, the finest experts in the world, figured 40 per cent, showing a remarkable similarity of results on the part of the untrained jury and the expert actuary.

I would oppose any substantial change from the present unit system of jury verdicts. If a man's life and a man's property are at stake, it is no more of a hardship to convince a jury as a whole of the justice of his cause than to convince a majority. No man should die or lose his property in half or any other proportion if the jury believes that he is innocent.

After all, it is always a case of an issue being dependent upon some one man, whether it be in a jury or anything else, and it would be just as true in a majority rule as a unanimous rule. There always comes a time in any dispute when one man is the hinge upon which a verdict rests.

The Little Yellow House

By BEATRICE BURTON -- RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSN. © 1928

READ THIS FIRST: Shut within the doors of every home there is the warm and glowing story of a mother's incomparable love. Mrs. Milburn had come to the Little Yellow House, on Flower Street, owned by Uncle Bill Parks, twenty-five years before, when she and Charlie Milburn were married. Through all these years they had only known poverty, Mrs. Milburn had kept everything neat and looked after her three children, Emmy, eighteen; Dan, thirteen, and Perry, twenty-one. While the little yellow house, on the ugly street near the mill, was now sooty and begrimed, it had never lost its charm for Mrs. Milburn. The story opens on Mrs. Milburn's birthday. Grandmother Pentland, who had never approved of Mrs. Milburn's marriage to Charlie, has arrived. Grandmother urges Mrs. Milburn to accept fifty dollars as a present from her to pay the long overdue rent. Grandmother takes the opportunity of again scolding about the untidiness of Charlie Milburn. Mrs. Milburn finally takes the money. As Grandmother is leaving she asks Emmy to take her out to her car.

Grandmother warns Emmy to pay no attention to Robb Hollis, young mill worker, who is in love with Emmy. Emmy wants a "white collar" man and Robb wears working clothes. In a moment of depression, Emmy decides that she is not going to spend her days in the little old house. She wants something new.

Emmy has brought home a pair of white gloves for a birthday present to her mother. Perry, the son, arrives home with a new lamp for his mother.

Early in the evening Charlie Milburn arrives home in a taxicab. He is intoxicated, as usual, but Mrs. Milburn always tells the children he is ill. Charlie has no money to pay his taxi bill and Mrs. Milburn takes the fifty dollar bill, which she had intended to use for paying the rent.

The taxi bill is ten dollars and Emmy tells her mother she is foolish to put up with Mr. Milburn. Her mother tells her never to speak of her father, that way, again. Emmy is all the more determined to get away from Flower Street and its poverty.

Over the poverty and discontent in the little yellow house broods a mother's love, which transmutates the dingy home on Flower Street to a place of love and beauty. Emmy, the only daughter, is disappointed with her surroundings, envious of her wealthy relatives, eager to live her own life in some finer place. Robb Hollis, young mill worker, is in love with her, but Emmy would prefer a "white collar" man.

Emmy is particularly ashamed because she is forced to wear the cast-off clothes of her wealthy cousin, Marianna, who is her own age and lives with Grandmother Pentland. Emmy is provoked because Marianna chooses to bring her some clothes while she is talking to Robb in the little garden spot back of the little yellow house. In the darkness under the big tree in the yard, Robb tells Emmy again that he loves her, Marianna again that he loves her, a party and sing and play for the guests.

Emmy has a wonderful time at the party among the girls whom she admires so much. Robb has agreed to call for her after the party in his roadster, the "struggle-buggy" he calls it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

It was only five minutes to six, but Robb's car stood in the darkness of Prospect Street. It looked curiously shabby and out-of-date against the background of well-kept lawns and imposing houses across the road.

And Robb, himself, was looking his very worst—in Emmy's eyes, at least—that afternoon. He had come straight from the mill in a hurry, and he was wearing the cap, the blue shirt, the old working suit that Emmy hated to see him in.

"Step on the gas!—Let's get away before anyone sees us!" he blurted out to her before she knew what she was saying. As she spoke the door of the red brick house swung open, and Lola Sinclair came down the walk between the two iron stags that stood on the front lawn.

"Hurry—hurry! Step on it!" Emmy begged in a panic.

Robb did "step on it." He laughed good-naturedly as they got away to a racing start. "Afraid your friends will see the old 'struggle-buggy' in all its glory?" he asked. He knew it was a funny-looking little car himself.

"I don't want them to see you—in those clothes you have on," Emmy told him in a cool, flat voice. "Marianna's been raving about you to them all afternoon, and they'd think she'd lost her mind if they saw you now in that awful shirt and tie! You look like a day laborer!"

She knew that she had hurt him. In the dim light she could see his mouth twist bitterly and his jaw harden.

"I'm sorry, Emmy. I didn't have time to change," he said. "I was afraid I wouldn't be here on time unless I came straight from the mill. You said six sharp." Her word was law to him.

He turned his head and gave her a quick, searching look. But her face was hidden from him under the wide brim of one of Marianna's old hats.

"Emmy, what's the matter with you tonight?"

"Why—nothing."

He swung the little car into old Genesee Street. "Let's go down and look at the lake for a minute."

It was on the tip of Emmy's tongue to say that she did not have time to go. But all at once she changed her mind. This would be just as good a time as any for her to say to Robb the things that were on her mind.

Down between the groves of white birches and the green slopes of Rockefeller Park and Gordon Park the road wound to the lake. It followed the curving line of the shore for a little way and then climbed a hill. With many steps and gurglings and jerks, the struggle-buggy gallantly took the hill.

At the top the road narrowed and became what the busy park policeman called "Lover's Lane." Robb stopped his car there and shut off the motor. Then, without a word, he turned in the seat and took Emmy in his arms. His face came down close to hers. His mouth brushed her cheek as he jerked her head away from him.

"Don't, Robb!" She did not want to hurt him. There was nothing in her heart for him but an immense tenderness that was half pity. But wasn't this the best way of letting him know all the things she had been figuring out for herself this afternoon? The only way? "What's the matter?" he asked again, his hands still clasped behind her neck, pressing into the warm flesh. "Don't you—don't you want me to touch you any more, Emmy?"

She shook her head, leaning far back into the corner of the seat. She put up her hands and wrenched his hands away from her.

"No!" She let him have it.

He sat, his head turned toward Emmy, his hands still clasped behind her neck, pressing into the warm flesh. "Don't you—don't you want me to touch you any more, Emmy?"

She shook her head, leaning far back into the corner of the seat. She put up her hands and wrenched his hands away from her.

"No!" She let him have it.

He sat, his head turned toward Emmy, his hands still clasped behind her neck, pressing into the warm flesh. "Don't you—don't you want me to touch you any more, Emmy?"

PLAQUE DEDICATED TO MEMORY OF MRS. EFFIE STEPHENSON

As a memorial to Mrs. Effie Stephenson and in recognition of her efforts to beautify the village of Yellow Springs and the college campus, a plaque was dedicated to her memory at Antioch College Wednesday.

The ceremony was witnessed by fifty persons. The plaque was furnished by the college faculty and was placed on the south side of North Hall. Inscribed on the plaque were the following words: "In memory of Effie Stephenson, 1863-1928, whose love of flowers has helped to make beautiful the village and the college she loved."

In a brief speech, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, declared: "When anything changes from the common place to the beautiful, there must be someone behind it with a sense of beauty. Mrs. Stephenson was the inspiration for most of the beauty in Yellow Springs and at Antioch College."

Mrs. Stephenson, who died last July, was responsible for the formation of the Antioch Union, a student organization having as its purpose the gradual development of the campus. Through her efforts many of the flower beds, shrubbery and roses were set out on the college grounds and most of the flower gardens were started in the village.

Many members of the college faculty as well as residents of the village were present for the dedication ceremony.

Jamestown News

The September meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Friends Church was held last Thursday at the lovely country home of Mrs. D. H. Bailey. Mrs. Archie Gordon was assistant hostess. Mrs. Henry Thomas, the newly elected president presided. At the business session it was decided to have a "Hallowe'en Party." During the social hour, Miss Lucile Bailey gave several musical numbers. Delicious refreshments of ices, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Class No. 7 of the M. E. Sunday School was entertained last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Leroy Spahr. The assistant hostesses were Mesdames Lawrence Edgington, Walter Shepley, C. E. Mossman and Ernest Elliott. Forty-five members of the class enjoyed the afternoon. The rooms were beautiful with fall garden flowers. A dainty refreshment course was served by the hostesses late in the afternoon.

The Caesarcreek Missionary Society met with Mrs. Rose Devoe Saturday afternoon, September 22. Mrs. T. A. Spahr presided. The program followed the business session. Mrs. J. H. Turner reviewed the first chapter of the study book, "The Forward and Backward Look." Miss Hulda Turner gave a talk on "What the Northern Baptist Convention is Doing for the World." These subjects were ably discussed by others present. Mrs. Lois Glass gave a vocal solo, and Mrs. Effie Reynolds, an instrumental number. During the social hour the hostess served brick ice cream, cake and cherry sherbert.

The special services that were to have been held at the Caesarcreek Baptist Church this week have been postponed on account of the illness of Rev. Beckett of Washington, C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Robinson left Sunday morning for Akron. They will visit the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mendenhall. Mr. Robinson will attend the state K. P. convention, held at Cleveland this week, going

Ride this HUDSON

A personal experience will prove to you its performing leadership

We invite you as our guest to a personal demonstration of the Hudson Super-Six. We want you to learn how Hudson can do easily many things which you would not expect any other car to do at all. Scores of motorists, fresh from examining and riding in the latest cars offered by the industry, declare this Hudson the supreme performer of their experience.

Knowing that we are to prove all we say, we assure you that from the moment you take the wheel you will be conscious of a performance entirely distinctive from ordinary motoring.

In all Hudson does there is effortless ease. There is no motor labor—no sense at all of the mechanical. And whether in city driving or in high sustained speed over country roads its action and comfort are the very luxury of motion.

And though Hudson thus leads in its generous output of power, you can expect a fuel economy of around 15 to 18 miles per gallon! Thousands of demonstrations support this average.

New riders and new buyers are saying, "There is no performance like it in the world."

NANKING IS RECOGNIZED

CHINA GOVERNMENT
ACCEPTED BY U. S.;
MINISTERS REMAIN

Treaty Negotiation Accepted As Final Recognition

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Official recognition of the Nationalist regime in China, as the De Jure Government of China has been extended by the United States, the United Press was informed by state department officials.

There will be no formal announcement of this important action.

De Jure—or complete—recognition of the Nationalists was the outcome of several months' study of the problem created on July 25 when John Van A. MacMurray, the American minister in China, signed a tariff treaty with T. V. Soong, Nationalist finance minister. At that time, Secretary of State Kellogg said, negotiation of the treaty constituted "at least" de facto recognition of Nanking, but the consensus of opinion of American authorities was that the United States had not thereby approved the new regime as the de jure government of China.

For this reason, the state department, as exclusively reported by the United Press late in July, prepared to take formal action looking toward de jure recognition. An official announcement to this effect, attended by an exchange of credentials between the United States government and the Chinese minister here and between the Nationalist government and MacMurray in Peking, was to have been made late this summer.

Since then, however, the legal advisers of the state department have decided that negotiation of the tariff treaty in itself amounted to de jure recognition and that no action was necessary.

This opinion was recently accepted by President Coolidge, and Nanking was so notified.

Under the new arrangement MacMurray will continue as American minister in Peking, while Dr. Alfred Sze will remain as Chinese minister here.

REPORT 150 DIE IN HANKOW FIRE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—Fire in the native city at Hankow took the lives of 150 persons and destroyed 2,200 buildings yesterday. Ten thousand persons are homeless.

The fire started in a tea shop and spread rapidly. The Shanghai Red Cross is sending a relief force to the city.

DAUGHTER OF CLIFF DURANT DIVORCED

RENO, Nev., Sept. 27.—Margaret Durant Daniel, daughter of W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, was granted a divorce here yesterday from Robert W. Daniel, Washington, D. C., banker, on grounds of cruelty.

Property claims were released. The custody of a daughter, Margery Randolph Daniel, was arranged through an agreement by both sides.

TREATY FAVORED

BUDAPEST, Sept. 27.—As a result of conferences between a Yugoslav delegation and representatives of the Hungarian government, it is likely that the trade treaty between the two countries will be ratified immediately. Heretofore the Yugoslavian objections to certain tariff facilities have prevented ratification. The treaty embodies important reciprocal trade concessions.

FACES CHARGE

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Marjorie Nye, 29, mother of two, was at liberty today under $500 bond on a charge of manslaughter filed in connection with the fatal shooting of Arthur Glick, 35, in her home. Mrs. Nye said she shot Glick while resisting renewal of attentions she had halted after three years.

BARN DESTROYED

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—Fire officials today investigated the cause of a blaze which destroyed a large hay barn in the state hospital grounds shortly after midnight Wednesday. The fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, used damage estimated at $14,000.

PHYSICIAN SPREADS CANCER ALARM AT MEET

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Many thousands of persons die annually from cancer and the disease is increasing at an alarming rate despite present methods of treatment. Dr. Frederick Dugdale of Boston told physicians, surgeons and research workers here today at the seventeenth annual convention of the American Association for Medical-Physical Research.

"Millions in the United States are in early or potential cancerous stages," Dr. Dugdale said, "and fully 5,000,000 others have the disease, sufficiently advanced to be detected easily."

Deaths from cancer in 1927 were estimated at from 100,000 to 500,000, the doctor said, and a large percentage of deaths attributed to other causes were in reality from unrecognized cancer.

"But cancer is curable and preventable according to the findings of Dr. William F. Koch, physiologist and biochemist of Detroit," the Boston physician said. "Dr. Koch has conducted an extensive research in the course of which he has discovered cancer to be a constitutional blood disease. Encouraging results have been obtained through the use of a synthetic anti-toxin."

From careful investigation of cases under his observation, Dr. Dugdale said he had determined certain pre-cancerous symptoms which, if acted upon by potential victims of the disease, would save thousands of lives. Such symptoms, he said, include sinking sensations, sudden temporary loss of vision, blinding flashes of light, sick headaches, various forms of rheumatism and stomach ulcers.

Officers of the German steamer, Manau defended the vessel with revolvers and clubs to prevent strikers from boarding it.

ADLAIDE, Australia, Sept. 27.—Twelve persons were injured, some seriously, during rioting on the waterfront today.

Two thousand union workers who have been on strike for several weeks in protest against a government decision respecting working hours marched on the free labor bureau. Volunteers waiting to take the place of the strikers were beaten.

The strikers then marched on three overseas vessels which were being loaded by volunteers and began bombarding the workers with stones and coal. Several were injured.

Several volunteer workers were thrown into the water and wool awaiting shipment was dumped in after them.

Police were outnumbered by the strikers and were powerless to stop them.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 27.—Many persons were injured today in fights between striking steevedores and volunteer workers who have taken their jobs.

CHIEF OF SPEAKING BUREAU SAYS SHE'S WORKING FOR PARTY

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, was on her way back to Washington today with full authority from the Republican campaign speakers' bureau here to continue her campaign for Herbert Hoover in any way that she pleases.

Although she denied she came here because of the furore in both parties over her attacks upon Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate, Mrs. Willebrandt appeared unexpectedly in Chicago yesterday and after spending the morning dodging reporters finally consented to be interviewed.

She said that Governor Smith, instead of herself, had injected both the religious and prohibition issues into the presidential campaign.

Asked "have you been making your addresses as a free lance or under the auspices of the speakers' bureau and do you intend to continue making speeches throughout the country?" Mrs. Willebrandt turned to Congressman Walter H. Newton, head of the speakers' bureau, and said:

"I think that I'll let Mr. Newton answer that for me."

"Mrs. Willebrandt certainly has been speaking under the auspices of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee," Newton said. "She has engagements in several states already, including Kentucky and Tennessee during the month of October and if her official duties will permit, she will make more speeches."

Mrs. Willebrandt left for Washington immediately after the interview.

Notes reject agreement on limitation

United States Not Accepting Plan As Basis.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The American reply to the Franco-British naval accord has arrived at the American embassy.

It is being translated and probably will be handed to French officials at the Quai D'Orsay tomorrow morning.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Two notes, in which the United States government is said to have rejected unqualifiedly the secret Anglo-French agreement as a basis for renewed naval arms limitation discussions, were sent to the American embassies in London and Paris yesterday.

Although not identical, the notes are understood to parallel each other in all essential respects. They go into considerable detail on this government's stand on naval disarmament as regards cruisers and submarines.

The United States' proposal of a flat 400,000 ton limitation for all classes of cruisers, made at the 1927 Geneva conference, opposed by Great Britain, was reiterated as being a basis for further limitation discussions, it was learned from an authoritative quarter.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Herbert Hoover sent the first draft of his Elizabethan speech to the printer today, and being was even around his headquarters that he would take next week the fishing trip he has delayed for a month.

The speech takes no recognition of recent attacks upon the Republican campaign by the Democratic candidate Gov. Smith in his western tour, it is based on historical incidents in the battle of Kings Mountain, fought near the little Tennessee town where it is to be delivered, and it treats of the necessity for developing the humane side of government.

The first draft required a week of arduous labor. The nominee will now go over it again, and headquarters hopes he will be able to conclude it by the end of the week.

In that case, he will try out some of the new fishing tackle presented to him by friends. He may go to Solomon's Island in Chesapeake Bay to board a private yacht for two or three days angling before he sets out a week from Friday for his brief Elizabethan trip.

Temporarily reports that the water abounds in bluish, spots, perch and trout have been laid before him in an effort to lure him away from his desk.

THREE TRAINMEN
INJURED IN CRASH

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Three railroad men were in a hospital today with injuries received Wednesday night when a New York Central passenger train locomotive crashed into a switch engine at the foot of E. 32nd St.

The injured are Claude Giddings, 44, of Willoughby, engineer, Cleveland; John Johnston, 35, fireman at the switch engine and Charles Osgood, 41, East Cleveland, fireman on the passenger train engine.

Theodore Duros, Lakewood, engineer of the passenger engine escaped injury.

Chandler Christy as "the most beautiful titian-blond in the world."

Miss Satchel was quoted as saying she had been "to parties several times with Major Lanphier (Lindbergh's chum) and the Colonel, and both have taken me out frequently."

But she would not go so far as to say the trans-Atlantic flier was paying her court.

"I am afraid to say anything about that," she was quoted. "It would be so embarrassing if it was contradicted."

The show girl was once "Miss Australia" and came from London with Ziegfeld's Follies in 1925.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Broadway's latest rumor is that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is interested in Blanche Satchel, show girl. The rumor could not be confirmed today.

The Evening Graphic printed an interview with Miss Satchel, who is a member of Earl Carroll's "Vantiles" and was once described by Howard

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 27.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh came to St. Louis to register for the presidential election, "and has nothing to say about any Broadway rumors," Harold M. Bixby, his host, told the United Press today.

MOVIE COUPLE AT CROSSROADS

Lila Lee, moving picture actress, and her husband, James Kirkwood, actor, have come to a parting of the ways, it has been reported. Miss Lee has been quoted as stating that they have decided to make their temporary separation a permanent one. It was Kirkwood's third marriage. Above is Miss Lee, with inset of Kirkwood.

PRIMARY BALLOTS GIVEN TO JURY PROBING VOTE FRAUDS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Board of elections officials today were preparing to turn the ballots cast in the August 14 primary over to the special grand jury investigating vote frauds.

Two truck loads of the ballots were to be delivered to Attorney General Edward C. Turner, conducting the probe, as the jury convened for the fourth day of the special session.

This action follows a bitter fight led by Attorney Samuel Doerflinger, former county prosecutor, to have the ballots burned. Ohio statutes provide that the ballots be burned thirty days after an election.

The board of elections yesterday refused to give up the ballots after Common Pleas Judge Fred H. Wolf denied a writ of mandamus ordering the board to burn them.

They based their refusal on an appeal filed by Doerflinger.

Decision to release the ballots to the grand jury came when Turner threatened contempt of court action against the board members if the ballots were not turned over to him.

Smith making bids for Minnesota and Wisconsin votes

Will Close Western Trip Friday in Milwaukee

ABOARD GOVERNOR SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN ENROUTE TO MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Governor Alfred E. Smith entered the north central west today to make a bid for the twenty-five electoral votes of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Democratic candidate announced he would speak in Minneapolis on inland waterways and the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project, a vital issue in the whole central west.

Tonight Smith will make a speech in St. Paul.

Soon after his arrival, Smith will go into conference with state Democratic leaders to canvass the situation. He has received reports that unusual sentiment for him has manifested itself in Minnesota.

The state never has gone Democratic in a presidential election. Roosevelt carried it in the 1912 election, and Wilson lost it by a very slight margin in 1916. The state has twelve electoral votes.

The New York governor came out of the northwest today with assurances from state leaders, that the state he rode through all day yesterday, North Dakota, will give him its five electoral votes.

Additional encouragement came in the expressions of favor toward the Democratic presidential candidate by Governor Walter Maddock, who was regarded as giving Smith a tacit endorsement. Maddock welcomed the governor at his state capitol office in Bismarck and joined the campaign train for the trip to Jamestown, along with the entire executive committee of the state committee.

Governor Smith will go to Milwaukee Friday and speak there Saturday night, closing this first campaign trip. He will go direct to Rochester for the state Democratic convention, beginning Monday, returning to Albany Tuesday night to rest there for the remainder of the week. He will begin his second campaign tour Monday, October 8.

Donahay to speak for Democrats

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 27.—Governor Vic Donahay, inactive thus far in the campaign, is the latest addition to the list of Democratic "spellbinders" slated to present the party's claims for votes in Ohio.

Donahay, according to J. A. Meckstroth, his secretary, is going to make at least one speech in behalf of the state and national Democratic tickets. It is probable that arrangements will be made to have his address broadcast by radio.

LANCASTER ENJOYS 128TH ANNIVERSARY

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 27.—This city turns back today pages of its history 128 years and forgets the worries of a busy world in the glories of celebrating the 128th anniversary of its founding.

It is a gala day of the year for all Lancaster and a day when the population from all parts of the county unites in a pilgrimage to the city for merry-making and the mardi gras.

The industrial parade this afternoon in which nearly every business concern in the city is to be represented and the mardi gras parade this evening, will be feature events, according to plans of the chamber of commerce which is sponsoring the celebration.

Because Lancaster was recently turned into an uproar by activities of a masked attacker a cash prize has been offered for the "wildest man" in the mardi gras parade.

YOUTH DROWNS ON LAST FISHING TRIP

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—The last fishing trip of the season for school-boys ended in tragedy yesterday afternoon when Raymond Wojciechowski, 10, was drowned in Ten Mile Creek.

The boys had taken advantage of a half-holiday from school to go fishing. Armed with crude, homemade poles and with several cans of worms, the chums went to Ten Mile Creek.

Raymond, together with Raymond Curtis, 12; Edward Pawlowski, 11; and his brother, Sylvester Pawlowski, 10, ventured onto a railroad trestle.

He lost his balance and fell fifteen feet into the water. The boy's body was recovered.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thou-

MARRIAGE DATE IS ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

Ninety guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. L. A. Larick, near Jamestown, Wednesday evening, to receive the announcement of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Larick's daughter, Miss Mary to Mr. Harold Carter, Jamestown, which will take place in October.

The announcement was made during a peanut hunt, arranged to amuse the guests, a tiny slip of paper with the names of the couple and the month of their marriage, being found in one of the nuts.

The affair was arranged as a miscellaneous "show" in Miss Larick's honor and she received many handsome gifts. Mrs. Larick was assisted by her sisters, Mrs. C. B. Smith and Mrs. J. Harry Nagley.

Yellow and white were employed in the decorations and appointments. Several contests were included in and a social time followed refreshments. Mrs. Ralph Gonzales and Mrs. Albert Garringer won prizes.

BIRTHDAY DINNER SERVED AT TEA ROOM

Friends of Miss Bessie Scarff arranged a dinner party in honor of her birthday, at the Green Owl Tea Room, near Cedarville, Wednesday evening.

The table was decorated in garden flowers and the place cards carried out the Halloween idea. A three-course dinner was served and a small birthday cake, with candles held a place of honor.

After dinner, music and a social time were enjoyed. Those present were: Mrs. John Harbin, Miss Leona Keller, Miss Ethel Higley, Miss Nellie Weaver, Miss Frances Johnston, Miss Lucia Jener, Miss Violet Lane, Miss Dorothy Johnson, Miss Lucille Beatty and the honor guest, Miss Scarff.

FRIENDS MISSION SOCIETY IN MEETING

An interesting program and a large attendance marked the meeting of the Missionary Society of the Friends Church, at the home of Maude Anderson, Wednesday afternoon.

The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Nellie Heaton. A topic from the mission study was read by Mrs. Ina Bogan. Mrs. Cora Davis read a poem, "Selected." Another topic, "What Do We Owe the Foreigner?" was read by Mrs. Marie Jordan.

The hostesses, Mrs. Esther Crawford and Mrs. Anderson served a delicious refreshment course.

OSBORN COUPLE IS MARRIED HERE

Miss Katherine Marie Brock and Mr. Roy Chester Henry, both of Osborn, were united in marriage at the parsonage of First M. E. Church, this city, the Rev. W. N. Shank officiating. Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. Henry's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, also of Osborn. The single ring service was used.

The couple will reside in Osborn.

COUPLE QUIETLY MARRIED AT PARSONAGE

Miss Josephine Smith, this city and Mr. Homer Newkirk, Dayton, were quietly married Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage of the First M. E. Church, the Rev. W. N. Shank, pastor of the bride officiating.

Mrs. Newkirk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Walnut St. After a short wedding trip, they will go to housekeeping on W. Market St. Mr. Newkirk is engaged in contracting work.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Anderson and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Whittington went to Lima Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. William Regan, Mr. Regan's widow, was before marriage Miss Ada Powers of this city.

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every drugstore has it.

PLANS PRESS MEET

MRS. DWIGHT YOUNG

Mrs. Dwight Young, president of the Women's Press Club, Dayton, is general chairman of convention arrangements for the Ohio Newspaper Women's association to be held in that city October 19, 20 and 21.

Approximately 200 women writers from all parts of the state will be in attendance at the convention sessions, which will be addressed by men and women writers of national and international repute.

Ohio, so far as can be ascertained, is the only state in which the women writers are organized. The association dates its inception to 1902, when a small group of newspaper women came together in Toledo. Today its membership roster carries approximately 250 names.

Under Mrs. Young's chairmanship, an elaborate program of entertainment is being arranged for the convention guests.

Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Springfield, Mo., formerly of Xenia, who is the guest of Mrs. H. E. Talbot, Dayton, spent Wednesday in Xenia with friends. Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Talbot, and Miss Helen Boyd, were luncheon guests of Mrs. Mary M. Meredith. Mrs. Lawrence who is well remembered here, recently moved to Springfield from New York to make her home with her son, Mr. Mason Lawrence.

FIREMEN ANSWER 97 ALARMS SO FAR

The total number of alarms to which the Xenia Fire Department has responded so far this year now stands at ninety-seven, following two more fires Wednesday and Thursday, both of small consequence.

Fire, believed to have been caused by sparks from a flue, resulted in damage estimated at $70 to a barn owned by John T. Harbison, Jr., located in the rear of 216 Whitman St., at 10:13 a. m. Wednesday.

A large hole was burned in the roof and a quantity of second-hand furniture stored in the one-story frame building was slightly damaged by water used by firemen to extinguish the flames.

Firemen used brooms to whip out a grass fire on N. Detroit St., in front of the Greene County Lumber Co., at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. No damage.

MEMORIAL PLOT IN CEMETERY PLANNED

A committee representing George E. Dignam Post, American Legion at Fairfield, and trustees of Fairfield Cemetery are announcing plans for the joint purchase of a perpetual memorial plot in the cemetery for the soldiers of all wars.

The Legion committee announces it has raised sufficient money to buy one and one-half lots and the trustees are also donating equal space.

It is hoped by the Legion to obtain a 15-mm. captured German field piece, the largest used during the World War, for a permanent memorial.

The Legion committee is composed of R. I. Spicer, J. H. Honaker and Glenn M. Kelley.

Miss Elizabeth Crawford fractured her right arm near the shoulder, when she fell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Andrews, Wednesday. She was removed to the McClellan Hospital.

Mrs. R. D. Adair has been spending a few days in Wilmington, with Mrs. Clinton Nichols.

Mr. T. Victor Kolb, Columbus, former athletic coach, Central High School, is spending a few days with Xenia friends.

Mrs. Ward M. Huston and Mrs. Lawrence Landaker spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mrs. E. M. Woodward, Columbus, O.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Carper, N. Galloway St., have been spending a week with relatives in London, O.

POLITICS ON AIR NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith's speech at St. Paul tonight will be broadcast over the red network of the National Broadcasting Company, and six Pacific coast stations, making twenty-six stations in all.

The broadcast will begin at 9 p. m. Central Standard Time. Two hours earlier the red network will carry a broadcast by the Republican national committee, with Speaker Nicholas Longworth making the principal address.

TENTATIVE TAX RATES STAND APPROVED BY BUDGET BODY

Tentative 1928 tax rates for the fifty-two taxing districts in the county, as fixed by County Auditor R. O. Wead, were approved by the County Budget Commission Wednesday and will be immediately certified to the State Tax Commission for final confirmation.

Xenia city's tax rate will therefore be $22.50 per $1,000 property valuation, a reduction of $2 from the 1927 rate.

Auditor Wead announces that the average reduction for each of the fifty-two taxing districts will figure about $1.60 per $1,000 this year.

JUDGE REID DIES; JURIST KNOWN HERE

Common Pleas Judge Charles A. Reid, 64, Washington, C. H., who has often occupied the Greene County common pleas bench, died in Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Thursday morning from appendicitis.

Judge Reid was stricken in Cleveland last Saturday where he was holding court under assignment of Chief Justice Marshall of the supreme court. He was removed to the Columbus hospital Sunday, and his condition was serious from the first.

He served two years in the state legislature as Fayette County's representative and was active in Republican politics. He was elected to the judgeship after his legislative service.

He was president of the Common Pleas Judges Association of Ohio and served on the Fayette County bench seven years and had four and one-half more years to serve.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Fenner, who is studying music in Germany.

MURDER VICTIM

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—William Mullen, 27, died today from a bullet wound received in a house here.

Police said they believed Mullen was shot down by a man whom he had cut in a fight Monday night. The man swore revenge then, it was said, and last night when he met Mullen he opened fire without warning, police said.

Police believed to have been caused by sparks from a flue, resulted in damage estimated at $70 to a barn owned by John T. Harbison, Jr., located in the rear of 216 Whitman St., at 10:13 a. m. Wednesday.

A large hole was burned in the roof and a quantity of second-hand furniture stored in the one-story frame building was slightly damaged by water used by firemen to extinguish the flames.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing in weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I sure am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—MRS. Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depressions, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you—see special offer in coupon:

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE FOOLISH—Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!—Isa. 5:21.

GUSH AND REAL JOBS

It is becoming harder each year for those candidates to "get by" whose principal assets are an ability to slap backs and kiss babies.

Today's voters read newspapers, magazines and books, and they are more widely informed upon every subject of public interest than ever before. Along with this better information has come a disposition on the part of many to resent the attitude of easy familiarity toward them on the part of candidates. Friendliness they expect, of course, if not gush.

Also the voters are beginning to ask embarrassing questions of even the most gushing aspirants for office. Thus if one running for an office declare himself to be the undying champion of labor, those who earn their living by the sweat of their brows are prone to inquire, "What do you know about labor? We observe no callouses on your hands?"

Herbert Hoover could not be embarrassed by such questions. He has toiled in the mines, labored as a collector of laundry, built great engineering works in America and abroad, pounded the keys of a typewriter for fifty dollars a month, worked on a farm and now owns farms.

But equally important is the record of Mr. Hoover both in public and private life as it concerns agriculture and labor. To him the labor and farm situations are interwoven.

"FARM PRICES FALL WITH THE INABILITY OF MEN TO BUY," he is quoted as saying.

"I, for one, am willing to trust the organized American workers to take care of their wages if we can keep our economic system in so healthy a condition that there is a job for every man.

"The farmer cannot sell his produce to people out of a job."

WHY MILLIONS ARE STARVING

A population of 1,500,000 are facing death from starvation in sections of China where the crops have failed. In many villages there is nothing to eat but the grasshoppers that destroyed the crops.

All this has happened because these people have clung to their ancient traditions and would not accept modern knowledge. The Chinese are not the only people who refuse to use modern knowledge. There are some of them even in this enlightened country. We are not in danger of having to eat grasshoppers, but millions of Americans will never get out of the rut because they show so little interest in modern knowledge.

The telephone operators in New York will now tell you the correct time if you call central but it costs you a nickel. Another proof of the old adage that time is money.

The fellow who complains that his privileges are being taken away from him and his personal liberty destroyed, should remember that a hundred and fifty years ago it was against the law to go joy-riding on the Sabbath.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

POVERTY

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, says there is enough machinery and power in the world to abolish poverty. It is true that we do not make as good use of machinery and power as we ought to, due to ignorance, but one of the outstanding causes of poverty is the laziness of the individual. What can machinery do against man's indolence to help himself? Even a Socialist candidate for president can't guarantee a perfect world so long as people are like they are.

FOLDED HANDS

A British author by the name of King has written a book of essays or comments on life. He calls his book "Folded Hands." He gives it this name because folded hands indicate that time of life—usually in middle age—when we come to the conclusion we can't do much in the way of changing people or reforming them. We decide to take them as they are and let it go at that. It is the period when adjustment comes home to stay.

"Folded hands" is a good name for it.

MISREPRESENTATION

One of life's major temptations is the temptation to misrepresent. It is so easy to misrepresent things, just a little, for our own benefit. It is so easy to make ourselves and the thing we want to do appear in a favorable light. It is pretty hard to set out all the facts when all the facts are not favorable. All automobile wheels wobble a little, from one cause or another. If they don't wobble more than an eighth of an inch they do very well and don't need to be changed. Most of us wobble a little on the truth. Do we keep within an eighth of an inch?

ACTING

William James, long famous as a psychologist of the most scholarly sort, used to say that if we would but ACT as though we felt cheerful we might soon find ourselves cheerful. His point was that the emotion follows the act, rather than the act following the emotion. Whistle when you don't feel like whistling. There are many things worth doing which you do not like to do. If you have the courage and the energy to do them, like them or not, you may be surprised to find yourself in the easy habit of doing them.

WHO KNOWS?

It is said that painless death to be inflicted on sufferers from incurable diseases will be made legal in Czechoslovakia. The written approval of two physicians will have to be had. Such a law may be a step forward. It may be progress, but human beings will have to become very wise to deal finally with life and death. And the state is made up of all of us imperfect humans.

The Diary of a
New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK. — It has always struck me as being ironic that all the praiseful lays about New York are sung by persons from small towns. The best novels about New York life (there are surprisingly few of them) are from the hands of persons who are not New Yorkers. The New Yorker either agrees with or is indifferent to all the condemnatory criticism of his home town, and leaves it for others to do the denigrating.

Which observations are prompted by a letter addressed to this column from New Castle, Ind. A short time ago I ventured the observation that New York was no place to sleep (because of the unceasing noise) and no place to sit down (because there are no free public seats). My New Castle correspondent resents these slurs upon New York and rushes to its defense:

"In New York, one can go home if he wants to rest, he doesn't have to lounge around in front of a store."

"New York has big theatres, not dinky ones like here, and you can find a seat without standing a half hour."

"One of the smallest hotels in New York has four lounges."

"Long Island isn't Manhattan."

"New York's Broadway is a Broadway, not a shipping district."

"New York's a place to stand on your feet and be awake, not asleep."

"In small towns husband and children stay in the house and suck their tongues. In New York the husbands walk the children."

"Don't let anybody kid you about New York."

We herewith offer our New Castle correspondent a season pass to Central park if he and a companion will get into seats without bribery in the Roxy, Capitol or Paramount, the largest movie theatres on Broadway, any evening in the week after 7, in less than a half an hour.

New York is a town where felts are willing to pay $1 for a seat in a movie theatre and wait an hour to get it, in order to see a picture that will be at a theatre nearer their homes the following week for 25 cents.

And as for one being able to go home if one wants to rest, in New York home may be from four to 20 miles, and from 15 minutes to two hours from the place one gets tired and wishes there were one of those friendly benches such as one sees in small towns.

Prize question of the week (from Tiffin, O.): "Please tell me what I ought to know about New York." That's all there is to the correspondent's letter.

Answer in one sentence: It's bigger than Tiffin.

(We're sending our correspondent "First Aid to New York Visitors," a brief, mimeographed guide to the city, by C. K.)

Persons we do not care to hear from; and who don't hear from us:

Those who don't send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Those who send an unstamped, self-addressed envelope.

Those who enclose a return envelope with the flap glued down.

Those who ask us how to get a job in New York. (We have a hard time finding and keeping one ourselves.)

From all others we are pleased to hear. What do you want to know about New York?

Gasoline fumes are gradually killing the few remaining trees in New York streets. It is equally difficult for other foliage to live in the noxious atmosphere so that imitation plants are now used as decorations along the swanky apartment dwelling streets. They are made of wire and gutta percha, and are surrounded by "grass" made of excelsior dyed green.

Even "nature" is unnatural in New York!

How to Achieve Beauty

The Care of the Hair—
How to Shampoo

A woman's hair is one of her chief attractions, and in this particular thing, as in no other part of her body, every attention that she gives it is promptly visible. In a word, the beauty of our hair and the health of it are dependent entirely upon ourselves.

The first and most important part of proper hair care is the shampoo. To those of you who think of a shampoo as a weekly or fortnightly ritual not worth either much time or much consideration, it will probably be amazing for me to tell you that there are actually dozens of shampoos. By this I do not merely mean that there are dozens of brands on the market. I mean that there are a dozen different kinds, each one particularly suited to some individual type of hair. Before I go into them further, I am going to tell you very simply the correct way to shampoo, because no matter how good your ingredients, if you do not know how to use them, you will not gain the full value from the operation.

To begin, you must have an abundance of hot water at your command, or the shampoo will not be successful. I know I need not tell you the importance of proper tools, so I will simply confine myself to reviewing to you just what they are. The first is a length of rubber tubing, to be fastened to your faucet to facilitate the job of rinsing. The second is a glass, preferably marked off in ounces, so that you can prepare your shampoo with accuracy and be very sure of the results. The last is plenty of good, coarse towels, so that in drying, your scalp may be stimulated by friction to new health and activity. Each of these items with the exception of the towels, can be purchased in the ten cent store, so that the matter of proper shampooing is dependent more upon common sense than upon any expensive preparation.

Begin by wetting the hair thoroughly. Use a small amount of shampoo. For the average woman, two ounces of herbal shampoo, which is very strong and very potent, to six ounces of water. This is sufficient for two or three latherings, which are absolutely necessary to insure perfect cleanliness. Apply this on the hair, rub in well with the fingertips, rinse out with warm water. Apply the shampoo again if necessary, and finish by rinsing with a continuous spraying of warm water which passes through the rubber tube. Do not use absolutely cold water as a final rinse, as it has a slight tendency to make the hair brittle if it is naturally wavy.

The Tuberculin Skin Test
Gives Positive Diagnosis
Tests for Tuberculosis

"I went with a boy friend for two months, saw him almost every day, danced with him and kissed him. He has just died of tuberculosis, and he did not even know it. I have had my lungs examined by a doctor and he could find nothing wrong with them. I did not tell him of my friend's death, but I know I can do to make sure if I have contracted the germ?"

"WORRIED."

You must always tell your doctor everything relating to your case. Worried. Had you done so he might have given you the tuberculin skin test. This is made by a tiny scratch of the skin, not sufficient to draw blood, through a drop of tuberculin. Tuberculin is a liquid in which tubercle bacilli have grown and have been filtered off, just leaving a little Salad—On each plate put first fresh crisp spinach, cut up a slice of tomato, two or three slices cucumber, two radishes and a hard-boiled egg, sliced. Then dabs of salad dressing.

Bran Cookies—Cream one-half cup shortening with one cup sugar. Beat in one egg, then add two cups bran, two cups flour, alternately with three-fourths cup sour milk, to which one-half teaspoon baking soda has been mixed. One-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon to be sifted with flour, also two teaspoons baking powder. Add one cup floured seedless raisins. Mix well and drop with a teaspoon on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven. Makes 40 cookies.

Mrs. J.—A good workable rule for determining normal adult weight is to allow 110 pounds for 5 ft. in height in stocking feet (without clothes), and 5½ pounds for each inch over that.

Can vary about 5 to 10 pounds either way, depending upon the heaviness of the frame, and still be within the normal.

According to this rule, your ideal weight, Mrs. J., is around 118 pounds, as you are 5 ft. 1½ inches tall. You certainly have done remarkably well to have reduced 40 pounds.

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

These efficiency men startle me at times. No act is so trivial but there's a right and wrong way to do it. It seems that you even ought to give your phone number in different ways, according to circumstances. When you go up to the girl in charge of the switchboard in a hotel lobby, you should not say, for example, Schuyler 1621, but 1621 Schuyler. That makes it easier for the girl to write on her pad the number, first and the name of the branch line afterward. This, in theory at least, greatly reduces the number of mistakes. If the girl wrote Schuyler 1621 instead of 1621 Schuyler, she might forget the number while making whatever abbreviation she uses for Schuyler. On the other hand, when giving a number to the operator at central it is advantageous to give the name of the branch first. Then she is able to plug into the right line before you have finished giving your number.

Grane Conserve
(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)

One small basket grapes, one-half pound English walnut meats, one pound raisins. Pulp grapes and cook pulp. Put through sieve. Mix and add one cup sugar to each cup of grapes. Cook fifteen minutes after they begin to boil well. Wash and add raisins, but do not chop. Put walnut meats into small pieces and add nuts and raisins to grape pulp. Put directly in jars.

Calorie Values of Foods
The pamphlet on reducing contains the foundation diet and a sufficient number of foods and their caloric values to tide you over until you can go to a bookstore or library and get a book on dietetics which will give you the calories in the other foods.

You have to judge puddings and other combinations approximately, by the value of the different ingredients. Don't forget that sauces on puddings make them run up sky high. Plain gelatin puddings are lower in calories than the average puddings because there is no fat in them. In general, you can judge the caloric value by the amount of sugar that you think it would take to make the pudding as sweet as it is. One cup is approximately 100 C.

Water ices are much better to take than ice cream, for, as with the gelatin puddings, they have no fat in them. One-half cup (scent) of the water ices of any flavor registers 100 C., while ice cream is only one-fourth cup to the 100 C.

In computing the calories consumed, give them the benefit of a high count, if you are reducing; and if you are trying to gain, the low count.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

NEW YORK — Old-timers in Wall Street say they never saw so little betting on a presidential election as this one.

Which is peculiar, considering how interested the public seems to be.

Brokers had expected it to be a campaign of record-breaking stakes.

The odds started at two and a half to one in Hoover's favor. If these early offers had been freely covered this wide margin of difference between the two candidates would have been cut down very quickly, until today the rate probably would be not far from fifty-fifty.

Instead there were practically no takers.

The result is that the original two-and-a-half-to-one quotation still prevails.

Wagers on past elections, as far back as the most venerable brokers can remember, have totaled well up into the millions. According to the best judges' estimates, this year's hardly reach a hundred thousand.

Even four years ago—one-sided as the Coolidge-Davis contest was—the figures beat the present ones fully fifty times over. To be sure, not much money was placed on John W. Davis to win, but plenty of it was staked on the results in various states and on the size of majorities.

Such a tremendous slump, at the very time when they were looking for a regular orgy of gambling, puzzles as well as pains the Wall Streeters.

Of course it is extremely immoral to bet on elections, and it would be nice to think that the voters have had a real change of heart, and that that is the explanation of this latest phenomenon.

However, politicians I have talked with appear to guess otherwise.

Their theory is that most people are too uncertain as to the outcome of the November election to feel like risking many yellow-backs on it.

The fact is that the politicians are "up in the air" this year as they never were before. Speaking for publication, naturally, they refuse to admit it. Each side claims everything in sight for itself.

But confidentially they do not mind confessing that they have not the ghost of an idea who will win this coming election.

They not only have no idea who will win it, but they have no idea whether one side or the other will win it by a very tight squeak, or by a landslide.

You hear the same undertone of uncertainty equally at Smith's headquarters here in New York and at Hoover's in Washington. The issues are so entirely different from any issues that ever figured before in a national election and the candidates are so different from any past candidates, and from each other, that the politicians simply have nothing to "tie to" in drawing any sort of a conclusion.

More parts of the country are "doubtful" than ever before. More people are refraining from telling which ticket they favor.

This "doubtful" territory and these "doubtful" people may all go one way, and it may be either way, or they may break up into any number of combinations.

Under such circumstances the slickest politician in the world can only wait for whatever may happen.

The shrinkage in the volume of Wall Street's election betting just goes to show—if the theory referred to explains it correctly—how exceedingly unreliable the situation is.

A shrinkage from five or ten millions down to a measly little hundred thousand is "some" shrinkage.

Living and Loving

DOES GIRL "LEAD A MAN ON IF SHE LETS HIM KISS HER?

How shall we define the term "leading a man on?"

"Leading a man on" is a thoroughly up-to-date man and maid "date," and she allows him the privilege of a goodnight kiss, etc., shall this be construed as encouraging him? Or is he to take it for granted, as such up-to-date young person, that the kiss is just part of the program her way of parting with all her boy friends? This petting business must be understood by all the crowd, it seems to me, or it leads to complications such as the following:

"My Dear Mrs. Lee: This is my first experience in coming to you for advice, but here's hoping you can help me. I'm 20 years of age and yet am not quite certain as to the solution of this problem. I am what one calls — I suppose — a modern flapper. I drink a bit, smoke a bit and cuss a bit. I have been going with a certain young man for a little while, off and on, of course, and now he has asked me to marry him. When I refused him he said that I had 'led him on,' and didn't respect me any more. Mrs. Lee, he knew that I allow the boys I go on dates with to kiss me, etc. I admire him greatly and would like to keep him as a friend. How can I explain that I did not lead him on?"

"GUEN."

Don't you think your refusal angered him. Guen, and he said that just because he was mad? In that case you won't have to explain. He knows as well as you do that your kisses don't mean a thing. Just another way of saying, "So long, see you later." A good many "modern" young people think petting all right until they really fall in love, and then they are not so keen for the idea that the one they love has been promiscuously fondled.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Last fall I fell in love with a boy of my own age. He is a nice, respectable boy, but my folks object to me going with him. What do you think about it? He has told me he loved me and I love him. He thinks I should never speak to another boy. He has gone with several girls since I have been going with him. Do you think it is right?"

"TOOTS."

Maybe that is why your parents do not like him, Toots, because he does not "play fair." As long as he expects you to go with only him he should not go with other girls.

FOOD AT ALL COSTS

"Albatross was comforted at once, just as Cormorant had hoped he would be, and greatly delighted as well."

"That puts an entirely different face upon the matter," declared the captive. "I am ashamed of myself for being so sulky. I will make friends with the very next sailor that comes near me. But after all how was I to know what they wanted me for?"

"And wouldn't you have been mad if you had run into a hook when you expected meat? My mouth still aches from the old thing. I believe it is cut a little. But that don't matter so much now that I know that the Two-Legs regard me so highly. One thing worries me, though. Do you think I'll get enough to eat?"

"At the question Cormorant chuckled.

"Still worrying about your stomach," said he. "I should think that you would forget food for a while when it was really 'cats' that go into all this trouble."

"No matter what might happen to me I could not stop wishing for something to nibble on," cried Albatross. "I should not be a real Albatross if I could. I am a bit ashamed of myself, but I can't help it. Albatross said that his head. Cormorant chuckled again.

"Well, don't feel downcast over it. If eating will make you happy you are going to be a very joyous bird."

CENTRAL READY FOR OPENING GRID GAME WITH WASHINGTON

With a three-week's period of conditioning at an end, Xenia Central High School griders have virtually completed laying of plans for their first objective—Washington C. H. High School on the latter's gridiron Friday afternoon.

The contest will start at 3 o'clock and will be played at Craig's Field, school officials announced.

Dave Reese, Dayton, noted official, will referee the game with "Dutch" Thiele acting as umpire.

The greater part of the student body as well as a large number of Xenia rooters will accompany the team to Washington C. H. to lend moral support.

The Blue and White squad tapered off on its training for the Blue Lions Wednesday afternoon with light scrimmage practice and blocking and tackling. The regulars worked out against the scrubs with the second team using Washington C. H. plays.

The same procedure is on the schedule for the final practice Thursday night.

HUNTERS ADVISED OF OPEN SEASON

Ernest L. Harner, county game protector, is advising sportsmen of Greene County that under a change in the law this year, the open season for squirrel hunting extends from October 1 to October 15, inclusive.

The bag limit is four in one day. Squirrels whether taken inside or outside of the state, may not be sold or bought at any time.

Hunters must have first a license and then permission of the owner of the land on whose property they wish to hunt.

Red and pine squirrels may be killed at any time and do not count in the bag limits on the gray and fox squirrels. Mr. Harner announces.

BOWERMASTER WILL BE RELEASED FROM PRISON OCTOBER 15

Elmer Bowermaster from Greene County is numbered among the 156 prisoners of the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield, O., who will be released on parole from the institution October 15.

Bowermaster was the instigator of a jail delivery plot March 6, 1927, which was thwarted by Sheriff Ohmer Tate and his deputies when they detected him attempting to smuggle a dozen backlogs to a prisoner in the County Jail.

Bowermaster at that time was under parole from a sentence of one to seven years in the state reformatory for auto theft. He was arrested for parole violation February 28, 1925, but released for the second time March 14, 1925 upon his mother's plea.

After the jail delivery was foiled, Bowermaster was again charged with parole violation and committed to the state reformatory after Judge R. L. Gowdy had ordered the sentence previously pronounced, enforced.

START RE-TRIAL OF ALLEGED ROBBER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Retrial of Harry P. "Sheriff" Holmes for the part he is alleged to have played in the $30,000 Lorain, O., postoffice robbery three years ago will be started today before Federal Judge John M. Killits.

A strong alibi defense used by Holmes in his first trial last June resulted in a jury disagreement. James "Seas" Burke, indicted with Holmes is serving a twenty-five year sentence at Atlanta Penitentiary for his part in the robbery. Jack Peer another member of the band was killed in an automobile accident after the robbery.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO CONDUCT LITERARY AND MUSIC CONTESTS

Literary-music contests between county schools will be held this winter preceding the opening of the basketball season and after its close, according to plans formulated by superintendents at a recent meeting.

Memorial readings, orations, one-act plays, chorus singing, vocal duets and quartets will be entered in the contests and other forms of entertainment will be added later. Orations will be limited to five minutes, readings to five minutes, one-act plays to twenty minutes while no limit has been fixed on the musical selections.

The nine high school community centers in the county have been grouped and dated as follows: Ross, Jamestown and Jefferson constitute group one and will hold their meeting November 8; Cedarville, Yellow Springs and Beavercreek are in group two and will hold their meeting November 16; Caesar Creek, Bellbrook and Spring Valley are in the third group and will hold their meeting November 22.

The superintendents of schools in each group are to arrange the place and time for the contest and shall agree on neutral judges. The superintendent of the entertaining school will preside at the meeting. The final contest among the winners in the preliminaries will be held Friday, March 8 and prizes will be awarded to the winners. The receipts of the contests will be divided equally among the contesting schools for both preliminaries and finals.

Superintendents who arranged plans for the contests were: A. C. Eubank, Beavercreek; H. L. Sams, Caesar Creek; H. D. Furst, Cedarville; R. E. Correll, Jamestown; A. Devoe, Bowersville; A. C. Roush, Ross; J. W. Whiteside, Spring Valley; R. S. Blackburn, Bellbrook and N. S. Wilder, Yellow Springs.

READING CIRCLE IS FORMED BY TEACHERS

Silvercreek Twp. school teachers have organized a reading circle and arranged for regular meetings in order to read and discuss the several professional books provided by the O. T. R. C. for 1928-29.

The organization was perfected at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Zeiner, teacher at Pleasant Valley and Mrs. Zeiner was elected president and Miss Phyllis Jones, teacher at Zaza, secretary. Teachers in the group besides Mrs. Zeiner and Miss Jones are: Miss Goldie Stackhouse, of Myers School; Miss Margaret Hobbs, Junkin; Miss Hazel Hutzler, Silver Ridge; Joseph Willis, of Oak Knoll and J. F. Gordon, of Schooley.

LEGAL NOTICE

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Auditor of the City of Xenia, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on the 19th day of October, 1928, for the purchase of bonds of said City in the aggregate sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), dated September 1, 1928. Said bonds shall be in the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), each, and shall draw interest at the rate of five and one-half (5½%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of September and March of each year. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows: Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), payable in each of the years September 1, 1930 to September 1, 1933, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing a fund for the extension of water works plant of the City of Xenia, Ohio, and under authority of the laws of Ohio, particularly the Uniform Bond Act of the General Code, and in accordance with a certain ordinance of said City, entitled, "An ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, for the purpose of the extension of its water plant by the construction of aqueducts, extension of building and incidental connections, for the proper supply of water to the corporation and the inhabitants thereof."

Bidders may present a bid for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than herein fixed, conditioned that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one-quarter of one (1%) per cent or multiple thereof.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of the bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids to be accompanied with a certified check on a solvent bank, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Xenia, Ohio, for two per cent of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth within ten (10) days from the time of award. Said check to be retained by said City if said condition is not fulfilled.

The right is reserved by the City of Xenia to reject any and all bids.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), Water Works Extension Bonds." Dated this September 25th, 1928.

Auditor.

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND TRUSTEES CUT ANNUAL LEVY

Although the interest and sinking fund trustees have made a cut of .78 of a mill in their tax levy for 1928, a decrease of $10,663.48 based on the assessed valuation of property for 1929, they have advised City Auditor T. H. Zell that they will be able to take care of the principal and interest due on bond issues in 1929 due to a surplus in their hands.

This was disclosed after the city auditor had notified the trustees that their levy would be insufficient to provide for principal and interest on bonds falling due next year.

It will be necessary to have $45,881 to take care of the principal and interest, including $28,390 principal and $17,581 in interest in 1929, City Auditor Zell announces.

The levy made by the interest and sinking fund trustees for 1928 is 1.24 mills or $1.24 per $100 property valuation, which would net $16,952.29 on the city tax valuation of $13,671,130. This levy has been allowed by the County Budget Commission.

Auditor Zell pointed out to the trustees that this levy, in addition to revenue of $20,000, which is the estimated earning of the municipal waterworks plant during the year, based on earnings of former years, would still leave an approximate deficit of $10,000 when it came time to pay off principal and interest on bond issues.

Auditor Zell was advised by the trustees Wednesday morning that despite the levy cut they would have sufficient surplus to take care of the deficit.

PETITION FOR NEW PUBLIC ROAD IN OSBORN DISMISSED HERE

Following final hearing Wednesday at which discussions of both sides of the question were heard, County Commissioners dismissed a petition filed by Attorney Morris D. Rice, Osborn, O., and others, seeking authority for the location of a public thoroughfare through the village.

The petitioners gave notice of appealing the decision to Probate Court and commissioners fixed the appeal bond at $500. The original petition requesting establishment of the thoroughfare was signed by 102 people.

TRUCK AWAITS TEST BEFORE BEGINNING FIRE SERVICE HERE

Although the new pumper fire truck purchased by City Commission to strengthen the Xenia Fire Department was delivered here more than two weeks ago, it has not yet been put into service and is serving as something more ornamental than useful at the engine house.

City officials explain the reason for this is that before the truck could be used the necessary legislation had to be passed by the commission to create a fund with which to finance its purchase.

Commissioners did this at its last meeting by selling $11,000 worth of bonds.

Now, since the new truck has never been tested as to its efficiency and capability of fulfilling its guaranteed qualifications, the pumper must be subjected to an underwriter's test before it can be placed into actual service, officials explain.

Later a second petition, signed by 633 tax-payers of Bath Twp., protesting against the project, was filed with commissioners.

The protest against the thoroughfare was based on four charges:

1.—That the road is not for the public benefit.

2.—That it would place a burdensome tax on the tax-payers of the township or abutting property owners and at the same time exempt to a large extent, because of vacant lots, the main incentives for the road. The International Development Co.

3.—That the thoroughfare would parallel an already established road which is able to take care of traffic between the cities of Springfield and Dayton.

4.—That the general traffic of the community is sufficient for a street directly in front of the public school, where school buses are driven and entertainments and public gatherings are held nine months out of the year.

ELECTRICITY TO BE LECTURE SUBJECT

Under auspices of Xenia Central High School, Louis Williams, Chicago, Ill., noted bycum course and chautauqua lecturer, will illustrate the "Wonders of Electricity" at a special assembly of the student body in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium at 10:30 a. m. Friday. A small admission will be charged.

The lecturer is bringing with him several thousand dollars worth of electrical equipment which will be placed on the stage and used for purposes of illustration.

TECHNICAL ERRORS SUBJECT OF REPORT BY OHIO EXAMINERS

Technical errors, mistakes of the "mind but not of the heart," were pointed out by Frank B. Thomas and R. D. Huffman, state examiners in the recent report to the State Bureau of Accounting of an examination of the offices of the City of Xenia, covering the period from September 1, 1926 to June 18, 1928, an examination of the report discloses.

Only minor discrepancies were found. The report showed illegal payment of $4,989.61; a finding for adjustment of $9.73 and findings for recovery of $250.05.

The illegal payment, the examiners found, included $545.40 paid to Ellsworth Weaklin for janitor work at the city building under an ordinance which had been repealed.

City officials explain that in the opinion of the examiners the payment was irregular. An ordinance passed by commission December 8, 1927 repealed an ordinance providing for the salary of the janitor of the city building at the rate of $90 per month.

Since January 1, 1928 the city has paid Weaklin $24 a week and accordingly all payments to him as janitor from January 1 to June 16, aggregating $545.40 were held illegal. The city officials had merely hired him by the day on a regular salary.

Other irregular payments listed included $1,700.51 paid The Foster Engineering Co. and $2,663.60 paid the Stiles Co. The last two items were for extra work awarded without contract. The total of these payments exceeded $500 and were held illegal under the state law. City officials say they were within their rights in awarding the work by what is known as force account but that errors made were technical.

In the finding for recovery, Mayor John W. Prugh, Bessie Kennedy and Mary Kennedy allegedly received overpayment of wages of $6.83, $11.86 and $7.45, respectively. The salaries were held overpaid because new salary ordinances passed as emergency measures were put into effect before expiration of thirty days.

A finding for recovery of $80.32 was returned against the Citizens' National Bank in favor of the interest and sinking fund for interest on deposits of its bonds and coupon account.

Findings for recovery also included $141.70 paid to the county from the city and $1.90 to the state from the city. Both amounts have since been paid, the report shows.

HOME-COMING PAYS FOR SELF: AUDITORIUM FUND HAS DEFICIT

The 1928 Greene County Home-Coming celebration more than paid for itself, a profit of $956.35 being realized, according to a financial report prepared by the Executive Committee of the Greene County Home-Coming Association. Receipts amounted to $4,527.14 less expenditures totaling $3,570.79, leaving a balance on hand of $956.35, which has been transferred to the fund for the new community pavilion constructed in Shawnee Park for Home Coming use and as a permanent auditorium. The Executive Committee also drew up a separate report dealing with the cost of erecting the auditorium and disclosing that a deficit exists in this fund amounting to $1,336.98. Receipts for the building fund, including $7,289.79 in subscriptions and the $956.35 transfer from the home-coming surplus, amounted to $8,246.14. The cost of building the pavilion was $10,055.03. Following is the itemized financial report of the home-coming, listing all receipts and expenditures:

INJUNCTION SUIT CLAIMS VIOLATION OF BUILDING CODE

In an injunction suit filed in Common Pleas Court against B. G. Dyer and Lillie F. Dyer, William A. Schneider, constable of the village of Osborn, charges the defendants are conducting a meat and grocery business which violates the town's building code particularly with reference to a section that forbids anything that is "offensive to a high-class residential district."

Constable Schneider charges the defendants recently built an addition to the rear of their residence, started a grocery and meat business, and are now erecting an addition to the front of the house for the purpose of moving the business from the rear to the front part of the dwelling.

The plaintiff complains that his own home is only fifty feet away and that the defendants' business has ruined the value of his property and amounts to a nuisance to the neighborhood.

Constable Schneider seeks a temporary restraining order enjoining the defendants from moving their store from its present location in the house and from erect-

Your Home Is You

If you furnished your home yourself adding to it as you needed new pieces, discarding, changing—your home tells a story about you. It tells about your tastes, about your sense of proportions, your sense of correctness—your up-to-dateness. For your home is you just as your clothes, your bob, and your smile are you. And just as surely as friends judge you by your clothes, just so surely do they judge you by your home. So many look to us, too, for just the things they need to be IN STYLE. Their homes must say nice things about them always.

Now Every Minute Sees Another GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR Placed In Some American Home

The General Electric Refrigerator was first announced just fifteen months ago. At that time, these refrigerators were being placed in homes at the rate of one a day. Now they are going into American homes at the impressive rate of one a minute, every day.

A Nation-Wide Organization Has Been Created

At the beginning of 1927, fourteen dealers handled the General Electric Refrigerator. Today there are more than 5500. Where only 70 people were engaged, today there are 11,500.

This swift but sound growth is a tribute to the newest product of the Research Laboratories of General Electric—a complete justification for the fifteen years of research and experiment which were put into the development of this "years ahead" refrigerator.

Public Preference Has Been Won

The miracle of general public acceptance, all in a year's time, has come to pass—an acceptance which is keeping nine factories running at top speed.

Thanks are due to the foresight of the electric light and power men of the nation who have brought electric service to eighteen million homes. They have made it possible for General Electric Refrigerators, in ever-growing numbers, to aid in reducing the annual seven hundred million dollar loss in food spoilage in American homes.

Who's Who and Timely Views

JURIES' MAJORITY VERDICTS OPPOSED

By THADDEUS CARAWAY
U. S. Senator From Arkansas

(Thaddeus H. Caraway was born in Stoddard County, Missouri, October 17, 1871. He was graduated from Dixon College, Tennessee, and admitted to the Arkansas bar in 1900. Beginning his practice of law at Lake City. He was elected prosecuting attorney for the second judicial circuit of Arkansas for two terms, 1908-1912, and then served in congress for eight years as representative from the first Arkansas district. He is now serving his second term as United States senator, having been first elected in 1921, on the Democratic ticket. His home is in Jonesboro, Ark.)

I would oppose any legislative proposal to change the federal jury system with respect to unanimity of verdicts. While I understand that in one or more states the procedure of jury verdicts by a majority of the jury is being tried out, I believe the requirements of unanimous verdicts is a proper one.

I personally have a great respect for the courts and juries, as they were understood at the time of the framing of the federal constitution. I have a great respect for the composite judgment of groups of people. I have the greatest respect for public opinion when formed deliberately, uninfluenced by prejudice or passion, which usually represents the very ideals for which America strives.

I had a case, particularly in my mind in this connection which involved property valued at approximately half a million dollars. The testimony was taken in Sweden and Germany. It took me almost a week to read the rambling deposition in the course of the case. The jury finally returned a verdict for an amount that made the proportion of loss, as to the value of goods involved, at 41 1-4 per cent. The British underwriters had carried over $40,000 of insurance on the cargo involved. The British losses were settled on the accuracy figures, which were 40 per cent. In other words, the jury made up of men none of whom had ever seen a cargo or ship fixed the rate at 41 1-4 per cent and the accuracy, the finest experts in the world, figured 40 per cent, showing a remarkable similarity of results on the part of the untrained jury and the expert actuaries.

I would oppose any substantial change from the present unit system of jury verdicts. If a man's life and a man's property are at stake, it is no more of a hardship to convince a jury as a whole of the justice of his cause than to convince a majority. No man should die or lose his property in half or any other proportion if the jury believes that he is innocent.

After all, it is always a case of an issue being dependent upon some one man, whether it be in a jury or anything else, and it would be just as true in a majority rule as in a unanimous rule. There always comes a time in any dispute when one man is the hinge upon which a verdict rests.

FELT MISERABLE ALL OVER BEFORE TAKING KONJOLA

Local Man Says New Medicine Built Up His Run-down System.

Twenty-two different roots and herbs combined with other recognized medical ingredients, go into the making of this new Konjola medicine. Sufferers from every section of Xenia are praising this compound after it relieved them of disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Stubborn cases of rheumatism and neuritis have been ended. The Konjola Man is personally explaining the merits of this new medicine to vast crowds of people, and at the time, many well known men and women are strongly endorsing this remedy. For instance just a few days ago Mr. A. H. Caplinger, 564 Cincinnati Avenue, Xenia, made the following statement to the Konjola Man who is at the Gallagher Drug Store, this city:

"Before taking Konjola I suffered from various ailments for many years," said Caplinger, "and I really didn't think it was possible for one medicine to restore my health like Konjola did."

"My health was in a general run-down condition and no matter what I would do for it, I still seemed to be dragging through life, half sick all the time. My stomach was in a terrible shape. Every meal I ate caused intense suffering in the pit of my stomach. The gas which used to form would rise into my throat and mouth making it very unpleasant for me. I would sometimes be attacked with awful belching spells when bits of undigested food would come up making it hard to keep anything that I ate on my stomach. I was awfully constipated and poisons filled my system so that I felt tired and worn-out all day long. At nights I couldn't rest well but would toss back and forth on the bed for hours before going to sleep. I was in this condition for almost a year, and was getting discouraged."

"I heard of Konjola through a friend and made up my mind to try this medicine. It's a blessing that I did for this medicine is just what I always needed. I have taken but three bottles of Konjola but it has made me feel better than I have in years. My appetite is wonderful now and I can sit down and eat whatever is placed before me, without thought of after effects. The gas never forms now and the belching spells that used to come over me are permanently ended. I never have to take any kind of laxative because Konjola cleansed my whole inner-system. In fact, I feel fine in every way and it is all due to my taking Konjola. I am glad to endorse your medicine because I know what it will do and think it should be used by everyone troubled as I was."

The Konjola Man is at the Gallagher Drug Store, Xenia, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Kills Wife and Self

It was only five minutes to six, but Robb's car stood in the darkness of Prospect Street. It looked like a ghostly apparition, and against the background of well-kept lawns and imposing houses across the road.

And Robb, himself, was looking his very worst. In Emmy's eyes, at least—that afternoon. He had come straight from the mill in a hurry, and he was wearing the cap, the blue shirt, the old working suit that Emmy hated to see him in.

"Step on the gas!—Let's get away before anyone sees us!" she blurted out to him before she knew what she was saying. As she spoke the door of the red brick house swung open, and Lola Sinclair came down the walk between the two iron stags that stood on the front lawn.

"Hurry—hurry! Step on it!" Emmy begged in a panic.

Robb did "step on it." He laughed good-naturedly as they got away to a racing start. "Aren't your friends will see the old 'struggle-buggy' in all its glory?" he asked. He knew it was a funny-looking little car himself.

"I don't want them to see you—in those clothes you have on," Emmy told him in a cool, flat voice. "Marianna's been raving about you to them all afternoon, and they'd think she'd lost her mind if they saw you now in that awful shirt and tie! You look like a day laborer!"

She knew that she had hurt him. In the dim light she could see his mouth twist bitterly and his jaw harden.

"I'm sorry, Emmy. I didn't have time to change," he said. "I was afraid I wouldn't be here on time unless I came straight from the mill. You said six sharp." Her word was law to him.

He turned his head and gave her a quick, searching look. But her face was hidden from him under the wide brim of one of Marianna's old hats.

"Emmy, what's the matter with you tonight?"

"Why—nothing."

He swung the little car into old Genesee Street. "Let's go down and look at the lake for a minute."

It was on the tip of Emmy's tongue to say that she did not have time to go. But all at once she changed her mind. This would be just as good a time as any for her to say to Robb the things that were on her mind.

Grandmother warns Emmy to pay no attention to Robb Hollis, young mill worker, who is in love with Emmy. Emmy wants a "white collar" man and Robb wears working clothes. In a moment of depression, Emmy decides that she is not going to spend her days in the little old house. She wants something finer.

Emmy has brought home a pair of white gloves for a birthday present to her mother. Perry, the son, arrives home with a new lamp for his mother.

Early in the evening Charlie Milburn arrives home in a taxicab. He is intoxicated, as usual, but Mrs. Milburn always tells the children he is ill. Charlie has no money to pay his taxi bill and Mrs. Milburn takes the fifty dollar bill, which she had intended to use for paying the rent.

The taxi bill is ten dollars and Emmy tells her mother she is foolish to put up with Mr. Milburn. Her mother tells her never to speak of her father that way, again. Emmy is all the more determined to get away from Flower Street and its poverty.

Over the poverty and discontent in the little yellow house broods a mother's love, which transmutes the dingy home on Flower Street to a palace of love and beauty. Emmy, the only daughter, is disappointed with her surroundings, envious of her wealthy relatives, eager to live her own life in some finer place. Robb Hollis, young mill worker, is in love with her, but Emmy would prefer a "white collar" man.

Emmy is particularly ashamed because she is forced to wear the cast-off clothes of her wealthy cousin, Marianna, who is her own age and lives with Grandmother Pentland. Emmy is provoked because Marianna chooses to bring her some clothes while she is talking to Robb in the little yellow house, in the darkness under the big tree in the yard. Robb tells Emmy again that he loves her, Marianna invites Emmy to come to a party and sing and play for the guests.

Emmy has a wonderful time at the party among the girls whom she admires so much. Robb has agreed to call for her after the party in his roadster, the "struggle-buggy" he calls it.

The Theater

Of all the ups and downs that Hollywood is heir to—and hey are many—the most flagrant and fantastic is probably in the matter of wardrobes. A star one day, who, in her role as a member of royalty, commands a clothes-closet fairly bursting with Paris-made raiment, may the next day find herself cast as a scullery maid with a gingham apron and her grandmother's wedding-gown as her sole sartorial stock in trade.

For the making of one production a star may spend several weeks in heart-to-heart conferences with dressmakers, costume designers, modistes, button-hole makers and what-not before the cameras even start grinding. For another, reports on the sea bright and early Monday morning after having been assigned her role on Saturday, and ten minutes later is trying a "prop" omelette for a strong silent subway-guard of a husband, attired in an outfit that even a victim of Near-East Relief could be snifflish about.

It's the same with every star—Oleen Moore, Corinne Griffith, Pola Negri, Norma Shearer, Norma Talmadge, Mary Pickford, Clara Bow, Alice White and all the others.

Here's a typical episode in the adventure of a la mode of Corinne Griffith, First National star. In "The Divine Lady," her recently completed picturization of the immortal romance of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson, her costumes numbered no less than 68 dresses, gowns and wraps, ranging in price from $200 to $2,000. The need for this unusual number of costumes—or the number was unusual, even in Hollywood—arose out of the marine sequences in the film. Salt water does not take kindly to silk.

Thus after a scene showing Corinne sailing majestically on the Mediterranean with playful waves and white-capped billows frolicking all about her, her silken gown was generally so much the worse for the excursion that it had to be duplicated for the next scene.

But apart from the duplication of gowns, the variety in her "Divine Lady" wardrobe was impressive. She was a titled charmer, and her clothes betokened it beyond the shadow of a doubt.

For "Outcast," her next picture, her gowns diminished almost to the vanishing point—that is to say they decreased from sixty-eight to five. The reason is simple. Instead of the effervescent Lady Hamilton, she was just Miriam, plain and unadorned, so to speak.

Before an immense congregation the new St. Paul's Catholic Church in Yellow Springs was dedicated. The longest draught this county has ever experienced, lasting forty six days, ended when a light rain began to fall.

Mr. Earl C. Rayner left for Columbus in order to be enrolled as a student at Ohio State University for his second year.

Poems that Live

SLEEP

COME, Sleep, and with thy sweet deceiving
Lock me in delight awhile;
Let some pleasing dreams be-guile
All my fancies; that from thence

I may feel an influence
All my powers of care bereaving.
Though but a shadow, but a sliding,

Let me know some little joy!
We that suffer long annoy
Are contented with a thought
Through an idle fancy wrought:
D let my joys have some abiding!

PLAQUE DEDICATED TO MEMORY OF MRS. EFFIE STEPHENSON

As a memorial to Mrs. Effie Stephenson and in recognition of her efforts to beautify the village of Yellow Springs and the college campus, a plaque was dedicated to her memory at Antioch College Wednesday. The ceremony was witnessed by fifty persons.

The plaque was furnished by the college faculty and was placed on the south side of North Hall.

Inscribed on the plaque were the following words: "In memory of Effie Stephenson, 1863-1928, whose love of flowers has helped to make beautiful the village and the college she loved."

In a brief speech, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, declared: "When anything changes from the common place to the beautiful, there must be someone behind it with a sense of beauty. Mrs. Stephenson was the inspiration for most of the beauty in Yellow Springs and at Antioch College."

Mrs. Stephenson, who died last July, was responsible for the formation of the Antioch Union, a student organization having as its purpose the gradual development of the campus. Through her efforts many of the flower beds, shrubbery and roses were set out on the college grounds and most of the flower gardens were started in the village.

Many members of the college faculty as well as residents of the village were present for the dedication ceremony.

Jamestown News

The September meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Friends Church was held last Thursday at the lovely country home of Mrs. D. H. Bailey. Mrs. Archie Gordon was assistant hostess. Mrs. Henry Thomas, the newly elected president presided. At the business session it was decided to have a "Hallowe'en Party." During the social hour, Miss Lucile Bailey gave several musical numbers. Delicious refreshments of ices, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Class No. 7 of the M. E. Sunday School was entertained last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Leroy Spahr. The assistant hostesses were Mesdames Lawrence Edgington, Walter Shepley, C. E. Messman and Ernest Elliott. Forty-five members of the class enjoyed the afternoon. The rooms were beautiful with fall garden flowers. A dainty refreshment course was served by the hostesses late in the afternoon.

Ride this HUDSON

A personal experience will prove to you its performing leadership

We invite you as our guest to a personal demonstration of the Hudson Super-Six. We want you to learn how Hudson can do easily many things which you would not expect any other car to do at all. Scores of motorists, fresh from examining and riding in the latest cars offered by the industry, declare this Hudson the supreme performer of their experience.

Knowing that we are to prove all we say, we assure you that from the moment you take the wheel you will be conscious of a performance entirely distinctive from ordinary motoring.

In all Hudson does there is effortless ease. There is no motor labor—no sense at all of the mechanical. And whether in city driving or in high sustained speed over country roads its action and comfort are the very luxury of motion.

And though Hudson thus leads in its generous output of power, you can expect a fuel economy of around 15 to 18 miles per gallon! Thousands of demonstrations support this average.

New riders and new buyers are saying, "There is no performance like it in the world!"
